Girl told another student her step-father would shoot him

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

With major testing finished and proms already past, mid-May school life can often seem boring as the calendar marches inexorably toward the end of the school year.

That wasn't the case at Hancock High School on Friday morning.

Law enforcement and emergency officials swarmed the school's campus Friday after an erroneous report that a student had a gun.

Ronnie Cuevas, administrator for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, said the incident occurred when a male student and a female student — both of whom will

Xtreme Weather Fair continues today at Stennis International Airport

Today's the last day for the "Xtreme Weather Fair, and your last chance to check out the "extreme" aircraft on display at Stennis International Airport.

The Xtreme Weather Fair offers a festival-style format that blends information exhibits, outside attractions, and activities for children of all ages. Food and entertainment will be available, as well as covered exhibit space allowing guaranteed dry shelters. One of the highlights will be the honoring of the "first responders" during extreme weather events, as in; Civil Defense, Fire and Public Safety Departments, American Red Cross and many more.

By special arrangement the NOAA Research Aircraft "Miss Piggy"™ N43RF, will be present and conducting tours during the two day event.

More than one hundred (100) exhibitors, emergency command vehicles, rescue aircraft, and response equipment will be available for inspection by the public. Several civic and community organizations will host children activity stations, as well as 20 food booths.

Bay-Waveland Legions set Memorial Day programs

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Bay St. Louis and Waveland American Legion Posts 139 and 77, will join together to Honor all Veterans who served our Country on May 29.

The 10 a.m. celebration will be held this year at American Legion Post 139's home on Green Meadow Road, off Blue Meadow, Bay St. Louis. Bay and Waveland's Legion Posts alternate hosting the yearly event.

The local Memorial Day Services will take place on the same day as The World War II National Memorial is being Dedicated in Washington, D.C.

All World War II Veterans, including all who have served our Country in it's many conflicts, in addition to those now deployed around the world, are to be honored.

All members of Veterans Organizations, Auxiliaries and their families and general public is invited to attend, Jim Long, Veterans Day chairman, reports.

At 9 a.m. on Saturday, May 29, at the Veterans Flag Memorial, Highway 90, in front of Hancock Medical Center, there will be a special flag raising.

Bay High's JROTC will participate in the Flag

Raising.

The general public is invited to attend this event too, according to Long.

Refreshments will be served at American Legion Post 139, following the special ceremonies.

Steak Night at American Legion Post 139, BSL

American Legion Post 139, Green Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis, will host a "Steak Night," this Friday, May 21, from 5-8 p.m. $10 per person.

Benefit, car show to help local girl

There will be a benefit on Saturday, May 22, to help pay medical and travel expenses for 13-year-old Chelsea Perniciaro, who has been diagnosed with multiple sclerosis.

The event takes place at the VFW in Lakeshore, beginning at 11 a.m., and will include games, a dunking booth, face painting, food, beverages, space walks, turkey shoots, and live entertainment.

In addition, the Misfits Street Krewzers sixth annual GNAT Nationals is scheduled for Saturday, May 29, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the historic Bay St. Louis Train Depot. Proceeds from the open car show will help defray some of Chelsea's costs.

For more information on the GNAT Nationals, call Mark Dubuison at 467-1815, Mark Duffy at 466-4336 or Rick Choina at 452-0302.

Donations may also be made to a benefit account in Chelsea's name at any branch of Hancock Bank.

PRCC campus to begin in Hancock

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Pearl River Community College Hancock Center will be offering its first semester of classes this summer at Bay High School and at Stennis Space Center. Classes will move from Bay High School to the brand new facilities on Hwy. 90 in August in time for the fall semester, said Coordinator of Hancock County Operations Gaynell Ladner Roberts. The new Hancock County Center will be located at the site of the old Walmart building on Hwy. 90 at Hwy. 603.

Registration for the summer session will be held at the Waveland Branch of the Hancock County Public Library on Coleman Ave. on Thursday, May 20 from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. College personnel will be available for questions. Students unable to attend the registration may register either via Internet or by phone at a toll free number.

Internet registration may be done at the web site at www.prcc.edu. Admissions applications are available at <http://www.prcc.edu/admap.htm>. You may also register for classes or request an admissions application by calling the toll free number at 877-772-2338. Registration must be completed by the first class day which is May 24.

The community education program will partner with PRCC to offer Hancock County residents both credit and non-credit courses, continuing education opportunities, as well as adult and leisure learning classes, all in Hancock County. Community education classes will continue to be held at both Bay High and Hancock High with added classes at the new center. PRCC will join with Community Education in offering classes through a brochure that is mailed out to every household in the county.

"The goal of the new PRCC Hancock Center is to be the center to coordinate all the educational needs for the citizens of Hancock County," said Roberts. "The students will range from those still in high school, with dual enrollment, all the way through those already in the work force seeking workforce development and training, to those seeking an academic education, to those seeking graduate courses, or leisure learning."

Summer classes at Bay St. Louis High School will include English Composition I, World Civilization II, Intermediate Algebra, College Algebra, and General Psychology. Classes will be held one day a week from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Summer classes at Stennis Space Center include World Literature I, Human Growth and Development, and College Algebra. Classes are also one evening a week from 4:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Be proud of those in military service

Fifty years ago this morning, I awoke in a new world, as the day before, I was inducted into the United States Army.

There I was with a group of 200 youngsters, not really knowing everything that would happen over the next 8 or 9 weeks.

Since the longest distance I had ever been from home was New Orleans, except for a trip to Jackson the December before for pre-induction, Fort Jackson, South Carolina was a world away.

One of the things I really feel helped me through my three-year Army career was the great educational foundation and discipline I received from St. Stanislaus' Back and Front schools and my parents.

I still contend every American youth, both male and female, should be required to go through at least six months of military training.

Discipline is one of the big 'misses' for many of our youth today, and for some - by the time they learn discipline - they are already too late in life.

Many times I think about my mother, who had three of her four sons leave home for the Army within a 13-month period. Even though I did three years of active duty, my three brothers all did over 20 years each of service to our country.

Our mother was very proud of her sons' military contribution to our country.

We all need to think and pray for the men and women today, who are spread across the world, many in very serious 'harm's way.'

Thursday evening from 5 to 7 p.m., is the scheduled times for one of the greatest repeat Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Business After Hours.

The event is to be held at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, and the regular sponsors are Cellular South and the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The food is always great, as well as the refreshments and opportunities to meet and greet old and make new acquaintances.

The Chamber's After Hours are open to chamber members and guests.

I hope to see you at the After Hours Thursday evening.

The big day for the American Cancer Society is Saturday, May, 22, it is the annual Relay for Life.

Once again the event will be held at the Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center with activities beginning at noon on Saturday, through 6 a.m. Sunday.

General chairman David Mayley and many others have been busy in recent weeks making preparations for a great American Cancer Society benefit. We will be telling you more on Thursday.

Look at the Numbers -- we're growing

The economy is growing, and jobs are being created. But don't take my word for it. Just look at the latest numbers by the Department of Commerce.

Virtually every economic indicator is up, and the U.S. Senate has moved decisively to keep the momentum going, passing a jobs bill to stimulate even more economic growth, specifically in the manufacturing and energy sectors.

Employment: Mississippi along with 43 other states has seen unemployment drop. More than 288,000 jobs were created nationally in April alone, bringing new jobs created since August to 1.1 million. Eight consecutive months of job growth have resulted in a very low national unemployment rate of 5.6 percent.

Let's put these numbers into historical context. A 5.6 percent unemployment rate is below the average of the 1970s, 1980s and even the bustling 1990s. The next time you hear some hysterical, election-year statement claiming we're in the "worst recession since the Great Depression," or something akin to it, remember that unemployment in the 1930s was a staggering, and today unimaginable, 25 percent. When I came to Congress in the early 1970s, six-percent unemployment was considered full employment. A few years later during the Carter Administration, unemployment was in the double digits and so was inflation. Who among us would swap today's unemployment numbers for the 1930s, or 1970s? More Americans are working today than at any time in history, with weekly unemployment claims falling to their lowest level since 2000, and we're working to drive them even lower.

Manufacturing: Too often we think that America's manufacturing base is in trouble, hemorrhaging jobs to foreign countries. We have lost jobs to Mexico and China, and I don't like it a bit. Yet, we're replacing those jobs, and the numbers show it. Manufacturing employment in April was at its highest level since 1987. About 21,000 new manufacturing jobs were created in April, topping off three consecutive months of gain.

Productivity grew from 2000 to 2003 at the fastest three-year rate in 50 years. The Senate's jobs bill, the culmination of a three-year effort, will provide tax incentives for American companies to keep jobs here in America, and it will stimulate more domestic energy production - a move expected to create around 650,000 jobs in the manufacturing, construction and technology sectors.

Personal Spending: Look at the numbers relating to individual expenditures, especially on home ownership. With mortgage rates near historic lows, new housing construction is at a 20-year high. In the first quarter of 2004, the national home ownership rate surged to almost 70 percent, beating the record set in the previous quarter. Minority home ownership set a new quarterly record of almost 51 percent. Meanwhile inflation remains restrained, rising at only 1.6 percent according to the Consumer Price Index and only 0.7 percent in the

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

Gov. Barbour calls Special Session

Governor Haley Barbour is standing by his pledge to call lawmakers back to the Capitol since the House of Representatives failed to address lawsuit abuse during their Regular Session. Last week, he called a Special Session to address tort reform, which will convene at 1:00 p.m., Wednesday, May 19.

Governor Barbour is also including the voter identification issue in the Special Session agenda. "I would have preferred for comprehensive tort reform to have been achieved during the Regular Session," Governor Barbour said.

"Since it was not, this Special Session became necessary." While the Senate has been strongly supportive of tort reform, the House has not been allowed to vote on it.

"There is strong support in the House for tort reform. Unfortunately, they never got a chance to vote on it. Support for tort reform cuts across party lines," said Governor Barbour. "It's time to get tort reform done."

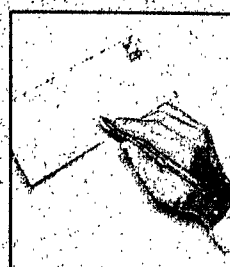

"Every business that wants to come to Mississippi faces a lawsuit abuse tax. Businesses have to factor in the cost of lawsuit abuse. We need to make it easier, not harder, for businesses to come to Mississippi and for businesses already here to be able to operate on a level playing field," said Barbour.

"Lawsuit abuse drives the cost of doing business to intolerably high levels, and every small business in our state is one lawsuit away

Reforms that were part of the previous tort reform legislation passed three times by the Senate included improvement in the areas of venue, innocent seller, caps on non-economic damages, revisions in the punitive damages cap, premises liability as well as personal liability and medical liability reform.

Governor Barbour said the Voter ID issue needs to be resolved. While the Senate passed a comprehensive Voter ID bill, the House proposed exempting anyone born before 1940 from showing identification when voting. Governor Barbour said this leaves a large unnecessary loophole.

"Requiring every voter to show a driver's license or other identification would help ensure integrity in elections," said Governor Barbour.

Bay to get $650,000 in Tidelands funding

BY MARY G. SEILEY
STAFF WRITER

Bay St. Louis officials' hopes for a major new downtown parking and beach access project have won the Legislature's approval, with $650,000 in Tidelands Trust funds earmarked for the plans.

The project authorization is in measure that won final approval as the Legislature wrapped up its business last week. The sum includes a reallocation of $450,000 previously authorized for use around the Jimmy Rutherford Fishing Pier, and an extra $200,000.

Altogether, the package offers a major infusion of funds for what officials hope will be a new lure to tourists, shoppers and beach-goers in the commercial downtown waterfront area.

The bill also directs $100,000 to each of two Hancock County waterfront projects, including the Pearlinton Pier and Washington Street Waterfront Park. Another $100,000 is approved for Waveland's pier and marina project, and $200,000 was authorized for more harbor improvements in Pass Christian.

Terming the Tidelands news "fantastic," Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre lauded the efforts of Rep. J.P. Compretta and Sen. Scottie Cuevas to secure the new project's funding. "They were very instrumental in getting the money this year," said Favre.

And the mayor himself lobbied hard for the authorization, while he was in Jackson promoting the Mississippi Municipal League's optional sales tax legislation. Favre, president of the MML, said while hopes for the sales tax option died this year, it was fortunate for Bay St. Louis he had the chance to help push for the Tidelands appropriations in person.

City leaders were stunned and angered last year when a last-minute maneuver by House and Senate conferees slashed Tidelands funding the city had hoped to receive. Compretta and Cuevas had promised a diligent effort this year to watch out for the Bay's special project request.

The city received over $1 million in Tidelands appropriations over several years to build the Jimmy Rutherford Fishing Pier at the foot of Ulman Avenue. And the Legislature had approved $450,000 in additional money for that facility's enhancement, in the past three years.

But engineering studies on ways to improve the pier's parking facilities convinced the city and interested citizens that there were more pressing and cost effective waterfront projects to tackle. City officials acknowledged they were taking a gamble of sorts in seeking to reallocate the $450,000 from the Rutherford project to the new downtown plans. The Legislature could have diverted the funds from Bay St. Louis altogether.

In the new project, city officials plan to buy the Beach Boulevard parking lot next to the Fire Dog Saloon, and a waterfront lot across the street from it. The properties are owned by a Florida family and have been eyed by Bay St. Louis for years.

Favre said negotiations for its purchase are concluding rapidly - the purchase may be complete early this week. City Council has gone into private meetings several times to discuss appraisals and offers for the property. Once the property is solidly in city hands, there are big plans ahead.

Favre said the city hopes to offer public access to the beach via the smaller lot on the east of Beach Boulevard, and build boardwalk links to the Rutherford and Washington Street piers.

The mayor also wants to build a "finger pier" in the area to allow small boats a temporary mooring spot. That would allow boaters to stop, shop and dine - but without overnight docking.

Favre emphasized that the new pier would be for temporary docking only, and is not to be a marina or a first step to a marina.

There are other thoughts about upgrading the parking lot in the future, to include a couple of parking decks and some commercial frontage.

Tidelands Trust money is collected by the state primarily from casinos which rent waterfront bottomlands. The Legislature annually tells the Department of Marine Resources which projects are to be funded.

For the fiscal year ending in July 2005, the Legislature authorized a total of $6.6 million in Tidelands Trust spending.

Other authorized projects on the Coast include:

- DMR's derelict vessel program, $100,000.

- Castille Bayou Project, Gaudier, $160,000.

- Speckled Trout Management, USM College of Marine Sciences, $250,000.

- WRANPS Inc. $50,000.

- USM College of Marine Sciences, various management projects, $300,000.

- Oyster Bayou, Beauvoir, $100,000.

- Schooner Pier/Salt Marsh Creation, $200,000.

- Courthouse Road Boat Launch Facility, phase II, $100,000.

- Cowan Road Boat Launch Facility, phase II, $100,000.

- Harbor Improvements, Long Beach, $300,000.

- Audubon Interpretive Center, phase I, $200,000.

- Highway 90 boat ramp, Ocean Springs, $200,000.

- The Point Development, phase I, Pascagoula, $150,000.

- Fountain Beach Public Access and Habitat, Learning Center, $100,000.

- Beach Park Improvements, Harrison County, $100,000.

- Pascagoula River Basin Estuarine Education Center, phase I, $100,000.

- Lake Mars Boat Launching Parking, phase

II, $120,000.

- Racetrack Road Boat Launching and Recreation Park, phase II, $150,000.

- Mississippi Sound Welcome Center: Public Plaza, $300,000.

- Ship Island Pier Public Access, $100,000.

- Deer Island Payment, $1,053,263.

The numbers relating to retail sales, consumer confidence, household spending and income levels are all up, too. Overall the American economy grew at 4.2 percent during the first quarter of 2004, and expectations are that it will be closer to 4.5 percent, well above our historical average.

Most industrialized countries would love to have a growth rate of even half.

At this rate, our economy could almost double its size in just over a decade.

Only one major economic indicator is not where we'd like. Fighting terrorism has forced the deficit to $417 billion, but it's much lower than the $500 billion expected. I'm with most Americans who believe fighting terrorists is our top priority right now. Nevertheless, Congress must work harder to cut the deficit even further and eliminate it before it starts affecting interest rates.

Lots of folks will try to falsely downgrade our economy in this election year, but one look at the numbers tells a different story. It may sound cliché, but it's the truth. Numbers don't lie.

Southern Miss Gulf Coast Library opens doors to artists

THE SEA COAST ECHO
As part of an effort to promote artistic and cultural awareness, The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast Library has opened its doors since last July to local and international artists.

"As the only public university on the Coast, we are very honored to have talented local artists expose their creative works in the new state-of-the-art library to the campus community, and Mississippi Gulf Coast residents in general," said Edward McCormack, director of the Southern Miss Gulf Coast Library.

The library has hosted and continues to host regularly scheduled exhibitions for artists, with five artists currently exhibiting their work.

Floyd Shaman, a Mississippi Delta artist has attained international recognition for his finely crafted sculpture. All of his works are for sale in the library. To learn more about Shaman and his sculptures, visit www.here2create.com and click on "Floyd Shaman."

Dusti Bonge is another artist, whose work is being displayed at the library. Born in 1903, the artist became a member of the Abstract Expressionist movement during the 1950s.

Bonge was an internationally renowned artist and the subject of a 30-minute Mississippi ETV documentary featuring her abstract art.

Local artist Leif Anderson, whose works are also now being featured at the library, is the daughter of Coast artist Walter Inglis Anderson and Agnes Grinstead Anderson. Leif Anderson is primarily a modern interpretive dancer and teacher; the theme of dance is central to her sculpture and is represented in her poetry, drawing, painting and music.

Joey Rice's papermaking has been the subject of a two-part series on Mississippi ETV's "Southern Expressions." Currently, the library is displaying Rice's "Paper Vessels."

Another of the library's artists, Hank Abbot, uses stone to create unique pieces that integrate the rock's natural shape with areas of smooth carving.

The Southern Miss Gulf Coast Library will be presenting more work by Rice in the near future. Artists Jorge Lovato, Suzie Webb and Laura Cornell are tentatively scheduled for future exhibitions.

The library is open from 8 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday-Thursday; 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday; and noon-4 p.m., Saturday.

For more information about the art exhibitions or to purchase any of Shaman's pieces, contact Linda Burns at (228) 865-4543.

Sacred Heart in Grand Coteau, La., in 1980 and earned her bachelor's degree in history with a minor in political science from Louisiana State University in 1984.

"I live and work in the ward and am accessible to everyone," she said. "I am willing to educate myself on certain issues and fight to get results for the residents of my ward."

She has owned The RainTree Garden Center on East Second Street since 1994. Carter is a member of St. Paul Catholic Church and is active in the Pass Christian Merchants Association. As a past PTO president, Carter now serves as the president of the St. Paul School Board. She has also served as a board member and queen of the St. Paul Carnival Association.

"As wonderful as this community is, I feel that with the cooperation of the citizens, we have the potential to become even greater, attracting more small businesses, providing locals with more in-town job opportunities, and making the Pass the ideal Residential Community of the Gulf Coast," she said. "My personal goal will be to provide accessibility and to get to know you on a personal level. I will always make time to listen to your concerns and seek your information, advice and desires."

Carter has been married 14 years to Mims H. Carter. They have one daughter, Madeline Olivia, 12.

ANTHONY HALL

Anthony Hall, a native of Pass Christian, is a graduate of Pass Christian High School and is a member of First Missionary Baptist Church. He studied business management at Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College.

Hall has served on the Gulf Coast Community Action Agency Board of Directors and the Board of Mississippi Water Environmental Association. He also served on the Pass Christian Harbor Commission and served over 10 years on the Pass Christian Auxiliary Police.

Currently, he serves as superintendent of Sunday School at First Missionary Baptist Church and is a member of the Pass Christian Volunteer Fire Department and the Pass Christian Progressive Civic League.

"As your Alderman, I give you my word that I will be fair and honest in the decisions that may come before the board," he said. "Over the years I've attended city council meetings, and have observed and learned many things pertaining to our city."

Hall is married to Patricia Hall and has three children and one grandchild.

JULIE WITTMANN HOWARD

Pass native Julie Wittmann Howard graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast with a bachelor's degree in technical and occupational education and obtained her associate degree from Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College.

She currently works as a legal assistant for Wittmann and Wittmann, where she has served for the last 18 years.

"I have chosen to run for alderman because I grew up in Pass Christian and love the town," she said. "I am young, energetic and want to see the city prosper. I feel I can make a difference in the city and particularly in Ward 3, where I live and have raised my son."

Howard served on St. Paul's school board for three years and on St. Stanislaus athletic board for two years. A St. Paul Carnival Queen in 1991, Howard has also served for three years as trustee, two years as secretary and eight years as Court Committee chairperson for the St. Paul Carnival Board.

son for the St. Paul Carnival Board.

"The residents in Ward 3 should vote for me because I don't mind hard work," she said. "I have their interest and concerns at heart and will do whatever I can to make our ward a better place to live. If elected, I hope to improve on the assets our picturesque town possesses. I hope to improve on the drainage and routine maintenance of clearing and cleaning the roadside and ditches."

Howard, a single mother of one son, also hopes to improve and expand on the recreational program for the youth of the city. She said she desires to bring the police and fire departments up to standards of cities of similar size and wants to help and support the merchants in the city to expand and prosper.

PHILIP T. "TOMMY" PIERNAS

Philip T. "Tommy" Piernas was born and raised in Pass Christian.

He attended Father Sweeney Memorial School, St. Rose High School and graduated from Pass Christian High School. Piernas also attended and graduated from Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Jefferson Davis Campus, earning a diploma as a licensed practical nurse. He is licensed to practice in the state of Mississippi.

As a United States military veteran, Piernas has completed tours of duty in Viet Nam and Germany. Currently, he works as a harbor patrolman for the city of Pass Christian.

"I have been working with the harbor master on ways to decrease the deficit the Pass Christian harbor faces at the beginning of each fiscal year," he said.

In the past two years, Piernas said four specific problems in the community have gained his attention. If elected, he said he would address these problems which include citizen concerns for road repair, drainage, abandoned houses, garbage pickup and equitable enforcement of city ordinances and a better and more cost effective insurance plan which should be considered for the men and women who serve the citizens of Pass Christian.

Piernas said he also wants the enhancement of a more cooperative relationship between the city and small businesses and the attraction of new small businesses to the community. He also wants equitable maintenance of city parks.

"As your Alderman of Ward 3 in Pass Christian, I assure you that I will be an aggressive employee of yours, accountable and accessible to you on a daily basis."

Piernas has one daughter and several grandchildren attending school in the Pass Christian School District.

CATHY WATSON WHITLOCK

Cathy Watson Whitlock, a 1975 graduate of Pass Christian High School, graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1978.

She currently serves as a member of the Pass Christian Planning Commission, which she has done since 1997.

Whitlock has worked at Hancock Bank for seven years and currently works as an office manager for a dermatologist office and skin care center with offices in Bay St. Louis and Biloxi.

She is a 2000-2001 graduate of the Leadership Gulf Coast Class and has coordinated fundraising campaigns for Junior Achievement, the American Heart Association and the Boys and Girls Club.

"My associations with coastal and state business leaders have provided a wealth of experience that will enable me to work cooperatively with our citizens and city leaders to achieve goals so that Pass Christian will grow and prosper," she said. "Having lived in Ward

3 for over 24 years, I am very familiar with our needs."

She is married to Orlando Whitlock and has two children, Max and Arreyah.

When the incident was reported to Lt. Ray Billeaud, the Hancock deputy based at the school, Cuevas said, "Ray, of course, did what he was supposed to do when there's the threat of a gun involved – he called everybody."

Fortunately, Cuevas said, the girl's threat turned out to be idle.

"They're in the process right now of trying to find the girl and her step-dad, who was never seen (at the school). Everything now is quiet, calm, relaxed and collected."

School administrators and deputies handled the situation so calmly that most students and faculty were unaware of the incident. An emergency rescue vehicle was even left parked out of sight of the school.

Officers at the scene said the female student would probably be expelled for the threat.

Hancock County Schools Superintendent David Kopf was unavailable for comment Friday afternoon.

Bill Kenny, who died on December 21, 1967, were placed on the memorial.

Both were the victims of traffic fatalities. On Wednesday, the name of one other officer, C. J. Reichert, who died as a result of gun shoot wound suffered while attempting the capture of a suspect, was added to the memorial.

Reichert died on February 5, 1947.

Travis Smith and Megan Walley from Bay High School played Taps at the ceremony. The Bay St. Louis Police Department Color Guard presented colors. Chaplain J. E. Banashak gave the invocation and the benediction.

A wreath of red, white and blue flowers was laid in front of the monument.

Bay St. Louis Artist Wins Best of Show at Florida Fine Arts Festival

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Bay St. Louis artist Vicki Niolet won the "Best of Show" award at the 16th Annual ArtsQuest Fine Arts Festival in Sandestin FL on May 8. A week of activities celebrating the arts sponsored by The Cultural Arts Association concluded with the festival May 7-9 on the grounds of the Grand Sandestin Hotel.

ArtsQuest is recognized as one of the top 200 fine art festivals in the United States and was named by the readers of Birmingham Magazine as the Gulf Coast's Best Art Show. Featuring the work of 125 juried artists from as far away as Wisconsin, Colorado, and California, the estimated attendance was over 10,000 visitors and art patrons.

Over $8,000 in cash was awarded to selected artists based on the body of work exhibited at the festival. Niolet won the top honor of "Best in Show" and a cash award of $1,500 at this year's festival. Last year she was awarded one of three Awards of Excellence and $750.

Niolet has exhibited on the Mississippi Coast for over twenty years and currently maintains a studio at

The Lumberyard Arts Center in Old Town Bay St. Louis where she produces mixed media and handmade paper collages. She was recognized for her overall presentation of her unique three dimensional sculpture and box constructions.

Spring football ends with high hopes for next year

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

Area schools are ending the year pretty much the way they began the academic calendar, with football practice. Bay St. Louis, Hancock and St. Stanislaus all culminated their spring football practice with various spring jamborees.

On May 8, both Hancock and SSC played in a jamboree that surrounded the Brett Favre Day festivities while Bay High scrimmaged Ocean Springs on Friday, May 14, at McCullough Stadium.

All three schools were looking to fill voids left by graduation, only some more than others.

Bay High is looking for a new quarterback to replace the departed Zack Ferry. Trevor Adam, Corbin Blaize and Jason Sims have been taking the snaps under center. The Tigers will also look to fill some holes on the line with only two seniors in Jeremiah Banashak and Daniel Lyrock returning. The skill positions seem to be intact with the return of WR Antonio Hawkins, WR Lorenzo Lewis and WR Tony Marino.

On the defense, Brad Ladner and P K Keyes return as book ends while Trevor Adam, Cory Thornton and Kyle Moran suit up again at linebacker.

In the May 14 scrimmage against Ocean Springs, the Greyhounds upended the Tigers 28-13. First-year Tiger head coach and Bay High alum Brennan Compretta commented, "More than anything, we use the spring to evaluate the players and see what our identity will be. We played a very solid 5A contender in Ocean Springs; however, I saw many great things tonight. I was extremely pleased with our performance, especially on a soggy field. The defense came out strong and the offense showed some very good things. We are planning a busy summer with weight training and speed drills three days a week. There will be two to three team camps we will attend at Ole Miss and LSU. Also, some individuals will attend some camps on their own. We will compete in some 7-on-7 games in June and July. It will be a busy time leading up to pre-season workouts. But, I am very proud of how we played tonight. It gives us an idea of what we need to concentrate on heading into the summer."

About 10 miles to the north, Hancock is facing a rebuilding phase on both sides of the ball. Hancock head coach Rocky Gaudin stated, "We lost a great deal from last season. We return one starter on defense and only two or three on offense. We are going back to our Wing T offense. As a staff, we feel we are a better team with that style. Defensively, we have to find a way to hold our own and give ourselves opportunities. The players have worked extremely hard this spring. We have had some bumps and bruises to some guys. Nevertheless, we should come out of spring in pretty good shape for the summer workouts."

Steven Dauenhauer, Chance Whitfield, Braxton Necaise, and Anthony Guidry are names that come to mind following the spring jamboree as the Hawks that will help the team fly into 2004.

The Hawks play in perhaps the toughest 5A region in the state. Meridian should enter the season a Top 10 competitor. Northwest Rankin has two top flight running backs returning while Hattiesburg features a new coach that will make them a force to be reckoned with in the upcoming season. Brandon has just about everyone returning so need we say more.

Picayune and Oak Grove played for the South State title last season and lost some key players to graduation. However, the two teams still have the depth to come back and be contenders once again.

St. Stanislaus advanced to the state playoffs for the second consecutive season under SSC alum and second-year head coach Casey Wittmann. While the Rocks did lose quite a bit to graduation, Wittmann and his staff are upbeat about the 2004 season. Wittmann commented, "We ended spring practice on a good note. We are getting some good leadership out of the seniors. Coming into spring we felt we would be strong on defense with 9-10 starters coming back. However, we realized that we would be missing a quarterback on offense. We have been working three players in Lance Cuevas, Brett Bentz and Chad Boos. All three of them do different things well. We feel all three have answered the challenge."

Wittmann continued, "We are becoming a much more physical team than we were two years ago when I started. The weight training has a tremendous amount to do with that; however, this is also the team's second complete year in the system. We have good retention which means we are not having to reteach many things."

Some players catching the eyes of the coaches are QB Lance Cuevas who has gotten most of the snaps. The other two quarterbacks in the mix are Brett Bentz and Chad Boos. Linebackers Michael Cure, Jordan Ellis and Lee Klein, have been the bellhows on defense in the past and are continuing that role.

Stefan Sofianos, Floyd Dedeaux, Brennen Thomas, Jeremy Nelson, Blake Brown and others have been catching the staff's attention in practice as they head into summer workouts.

SSC plans to continue to hit the weights hard four days a week. Also, this summer the skill players will play six games of 7-on-7 competition while the linemen will attend camp. The 7-on-7 skill players will also attend some team camps.

coach of the state champion and nationally ranked Pearl River Community College Wildcats.

On Tuesday, June 1 and Wednesday, June 2, a special pitcher/catcher camp will be conducted from 1-3 pm. The pitcher/catcher camp is open to players ages 7-15 years old. The cost is $30 per camper.

The camp director is SSC head baseball coach Mark Logan. Camp instructors include Stace McRaney of St. Stanislaus and Long Beach's Greg Drye.

Both camps will be held at the St. Stanislaus College baseball diamond.

There will be instruction from baseball coaches across the Mississippi Gulf Coast, as well as, demonstrations from local college and high school ball players. Motivational talks will be given by St. Stanislaus Athletic Director/Head Basketball coach Jay Ladner.

Registration for both camps will take place one hour prior to the start of the first day of camp. For more information on the camp or to reserve a spot, please contact Mark Logan at 228-467-9057 ext. 533 or 228-467-3664.

Bay's Johnson signs with Pearl River Lady 'Cats

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

Bay High Lady Tiger Brittany Johnson signed an National Letter of Intent with the Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcats' softball team on Thursday, May 13.

Johnson, the lone senior on the Lady Tiger squad, helped lead the Lady Tigers to the Class 4A playoffs in 2004. She played six years for the Lady Tigers as a pitcher, leftfielder, and at second base.

She was a solid hitter for Bay High topping the .270 mark in 2004 and excelled as a baserunner for the Lady Tigers. On the mound, she went 4-4.

Bay High head coach Debbie Triplett stated, "I am very proud that Brittney Johnson will have the opportunity to play at the next level. This is a good sign of where our program is headed with the caliber of player that Brittney is. She was a leading hitter for our team and was a solid pitcher for us. Brittney could have had a better season on the mound for us but we were unable to get the timely hits behind her in some games."

Triplett continued, "She was very dedicated to this team's success. When she reached base on offense, she was a dominating baserunner. On defense, she played wherever we asked her to play. It was an honor to coach Brittany Johnson and she proves that a scholarship to play at the next level is an attainable goal."

Cheerleading, football registration scheduled

The Bay St. Louis Youth Cheerleading and Football League will be registering children between the ages of 6 - 12 for the upcoming 2004 season on the following dates;

May 21, 2004 6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. BSL Baseball Complex
May 24, 2004 6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. McDonald Field & BLS, Baseball Complex

June 1, 2004 6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. McDonald Field & BSL Baseball Complex
June 3, 2004 6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m. McDonald Field & BSL Baseball Complex

The cost for a complete cheerleading package will be $95.00. The fee for registration for football will be $50 for the first child and $45 for the second child. All new football players must bring a copy of your birth certificate and a photograph to registration.

If you would like to know more information about cheerleading, you may contact Tammy Woods at 467-7506 after 6:00 p.m. or Christy Lapniewski at 466-2615. For more information regarding football, you may contact Bruce Morreale at 467-5691 or Christy Lapniewski at 466-2615.

Baseball camp dates set

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

The Gulf Coast Baseball School at St. Stanislaus will hold a camp that stresses the fundamentals in throwing, catching, hitting, base running and infield/outfield play from Monday, May 31 through Thursday, June 3rd.

The camp will begin daily 9am and continue through 12 noon. It is open to boys and girls ages 5-15. The cost for this camp is $60 per camper and the fee includes a camp t-shirt. Special guest speaker for the camp is Jay Artigues - 1987 SSC alum and current head coach of the state champion and nationally ranked Pearl River Community College Wildcats.

On Tuesday, June 1 and Wednesday, June 2, a special pitcher/catcher camp will be conducted from 1-3 pm. The pitcher/catcher camp is open to players ages 7-15 years old. The cost is $30 per camper.

The camp director is SSC head baseball coach Mark Logan. Camp instructors include Stace McRaney of St. Stanislaus and Long Beach's Greg Drye.

Both camps will be held at the St. Stanislaus College baseball diamond.

William Carey to host summer soccer camps

BY JASON SHOWS

Nigel Boulton, William Carey College head soccer coach, has organized an outstanding program for the 2004 summer soccer camps, by organizing a great list of events.

On June 20-25 the girls only camp will begin, with the boys camp starting on July 25-30. College preparation camp for high school sophomores, juniors and seniors will start Aug. 1-6.

The cost for each camp is $375. Early registration is $325.

"The experience your child receives at any soccer camp is in direct proportion to the quality of each individual coach who works with them," Boulton said. "It's not the name on the headline that gives a camp its quality; it is the individual coach that works with each player. I put a lot of time and effort into recruiting the right coaches for all my camps and development programs."

Coaches who have already been hired for the summer camps are Mike O'Niell, Stephen Porter, Pat Winters and Brittany Axford.

O'Niell, from Belfast,

Northern Ireland, is a certified scout for the Scottish Premier League Giants and European stronghold Glasgow Celtic.

"I have worked with Mike on many occasions and I am really pleased and excited that he has decided to join me here in Mississippi during the summer," Boulton said. "Mike has denied a lot of offers to travel here and be involved in allocating the premier quality possible for the area here in Hattiesburg and the surrounding region."

Military Mention

ALC Jason M. Oliver

ALC Jason M. Oliver, the son of Myron and Virginia Oliver of Bay St. Louis, graduated from Lackland A.F.B. in Texas on February 13, 2004.

He is now continuing his training at Sheppard A.F.B. in Texas.

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Jeffrey D. Couch

Jeff D. Couch of Pass Christian recently graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Recruit Training Center in Cape May, N. J.

During the eight-week training program, Couch completed a vigorous training curriculum consisting of classroom academics and practical instruction on water safety and survival, military customs and courtesies, seamanship skills, first aid, firefighting and marksmanship. A major emphasis is also placed on physical fitness, health and wellness.

Couch and other recruits also received instruction on the Coast Guard's three core values -- honor, respect and devotion to duty -- and how to apply them in their military performance and personal conduct. Couch will join 36,000 other men and women who are the Coast Guard's force.

Men and women train together from the first day in the Coast Guard just as they do aboard ships and shore units throughout the world. To reinforce the team concept, Couch, and other recruits were trained in preventing sexual harassment, drug and alcohol awareness, civil rights training, and the basics of the work-life balance, as well as total quality management.

Couch is a 2003 graduate of Pass Christian High School of Pass Christian, Miss.

Navy Seaman Gabriel D. Russell

brother of Christopher M. Russell of Waveland, and nephew of Linda Russell of Marrero, La., recently returned from a routine, scheduled deployment while assigned to the amphibious transport dock ship USS Ogden, homeported in San Diego, Calif.

During the deployment, Russell's unit conducted humanitarian assistance and security and stabilization missions in Iraq. They also patrolled international waters in the Red Sea and Horn of Africa to deter the transport of terrorist personnel and equipment.

The primary mission of Russell's ship is to transport and land Marines, along with their equipment and supplies, by embarked aircraft, landing craft air cushion, conventional landing craft or amphibious vehicles.

Russell is a 2001 graduate of Bay High School of Bay St. Louis, Miss. and joined the Navy in August 2001.

Navy Seaman Recruit Brandon S. Blackstock

son of Cheryl L. and Jeffery S. Blackstock of Pass Christian, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Blackstock completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the key skills and confidence they need to graduate and take to the fleet.

"Battle Stations" has been designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly 'Navy' flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Citizens for Space Exploration deliver grassroots message directly to congress

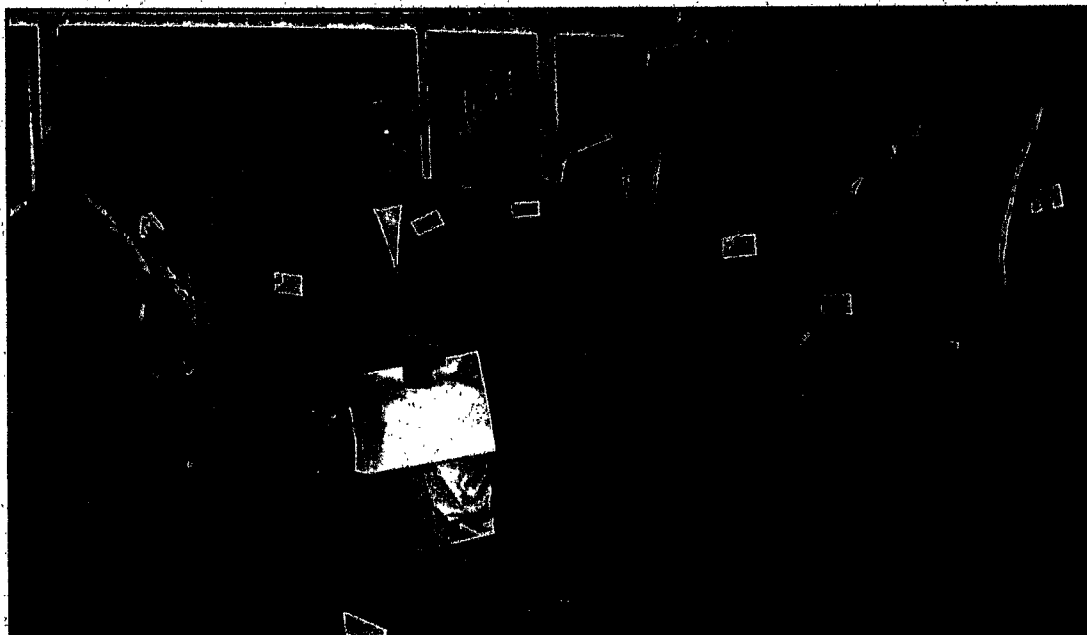

Last week, nearly 120 individuals from Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Alabama, and Texas traveled to Washington D.C. and met with 199 U.S. Representatives and 58 Senators to deliver a grassroots message of support for NASA space initiatives from the community perspective.

What if Stennis Space Center (SSC) had not been here in 2003? A study conducted by Dr. Charles A. Campbell, professor of economics, Mississippi State University in March 2004 indicates the impact would have been significant. Employment would have been reduced by 28,679 jobs. Personal income would have been reduced by more than $1 billion, and retail sales would have been reduced by more than $400 million.

This year, close to 15 citizens representing the Partners for Stennis regional grass roots advocacy organization took this message and support for a new national vision for space exploration to Washington, D.C., as part of the national coalition. Together, they delivered a new message this year, supporting the new national vision for space exploration, and unveiled its new national coalition name, Citizens for Space Exploration.

The coalition was comprised of individuals representing diverse areas of economic development, education, small business, county and municipal government and the aerospace industry.

Representatives from the two state area of Mississippi and Louisiana who attended include: Tish Williams, Hancock Chamber; George and Henry Martinez, GM&R Construction in Waveland; Lee Reid, Adams & Reese, LLP; Nancy Roberts, Chris Harvey, and Dr. Robin Buchanan, Enterprise for Innovative Geospatial Solutions; Glade Woods, Partners for Pearl River County and GeoDigital Mapping, Inc.; Susanne Shean, Partners for Pearl River County and CRI Computers; John

A similar conservative estimate indicates that personal income would have been reduced by more than $1.006 billion, and retail sales would have been reduced by $402 million. It is estimated that SSC has a tax revenue impact on local government revenues of $109 million.

that Senators Lott and Cochran and Congressman Gene Taylor took time from their busy schedules to personally meet with us. They were all supportive, with time, interest and comments to support the NASA vision," said Glade Woods, Mississippi Delegation Coordinator for the Partners for Stennis Organization.

Lee Reid, Adams & Reese LLP, who coordinated meetings with the Louisiana Delegation on behalf of Partners said that the meetings yielded bi-partisan support for human space exploration. Reid commented that the appointments gave all citizens the opportunity to voice support for NASA and its human space pro-organization that was established in 1996 to act as a catalyst to develop and promote the Stennis region to enhance education, quality of life and economic opportunities for Mississippi and Louisiana. For more information, contact: www.partnersforstennis.org or 228-467-9048.

Economic Viewpoint***

NASA Stennis Space Center (SSC) is a significant source of employment and income in the local area. If SSC had not been in operation in 2003, considering both direct and indirect effects, a very conservative estimate of reduction in employment for the local area would be 28,679 jobs.

Slot tournament ranked in magazine's top 15

Global Gaming Business Magazine recently named Casino Magic Bay St. Louis' "$150,000 Fountains of Cash Slot Tournament" one of the 15 best casino promotions of 2003 in their April 2004 issue. The tournament, named for regular Casino Magic Bay St. Louis performer Pete Fountain, will make a comeback May 22nd as the bigger and better "$175,000 Fountains of Cash II Slot Tournament".

Jeffrey Compton, of Compton Dancer Consulting served as a judge for the magazine and said they chose the tournament because it promoted Fountain's appearances, involved a large direct mail campaign and ran all summer long.

"We are happy to offer customers a quality, fun and free tournament such as this and to be recognized for our successful efforts," says PR and Advertising Manager Christian Reese.

An aggressive marketing campaign was used to promote Casino Magic Bay St. Louis' most successful slot tournament to date. Approximately 80,000 direct mail pieces were sent out each month for several months. In addition to the direct mail campaign, numerous print ads, radio spots, billboards and in-house advertising such as posters, restroom acrylics, placemats, brochures, and invitations were produced to support the promotion. After the finals, the tournament winners were also promoted in ads, in-house advertising, direct mail and on billboards.

The use of Pete Fountain as a spokesperson and namesake for the tournament caught the attention of native New Orleans and Gulf Coast residents and anyone familiar with Pete's Mardi Gras and national television appearances and performances. His performances every Tuesday and Wednesday night at Casino Magic are a popular and affordable attraction (tickets are priced at only $10 and include two drinks).

The Fountains of Cash Tournament was not only a promotion of a slot tournament but also of Fountain's new association with the property.

Guests who are interested in competing for their share of $175,000 in the Fountains of Cash II Slot Tournament may earn entries beginning May 22nd into the daily tournaments. Daily tournaments will be held Monday through Thursday from 12 p.m. to 10 p.m. between May 24th and July 29th. Guests will receive one entry when they earn a minimum of 100 slot points on their Magic Money Players Club card within a 24-hour period. Magic Money Membership is free and required to participate.

NASA program hits Bay-Waveland Middle, heads to Hancock Middle

THE SEA COAST ECHO
NASA and Honeywell (NYSE: HON) have formed a partnership that provides a unique way of inspiring the next generation. Together they developed "FMA Live! Where Science Rocks!"

It is a science education outreach program disguised as a rock concert. Its mission is to engage middle-school students in the wonders of science, technology and math in new and innovative ways, demonstrating the relevance of the natural sciences to kids' daily lives.

FMA Live! is a rock show that teaches science. Using lights, booming music, action and visual effects, FMA Live! takes students on a journey through Newton's Three Laws of Motion and the Universal Law of Gravity.

These topics have been identified by the National Science Education Standards as key learning objectives for students in grades 5-8.

The show was well-received at Bay-Waveland Middle School on Friday, and blasts into high gear Monday at Hancock Middle.

Show highlights include:
• Insane interactive science demos: a hover chair, sumo wrestling, rover cars and rocket launchers.
• Original music
• Heart-pounding rhythms

• Daring dance moves
• Music videos
• Rockumentary about the life and work of Sir Isaac Newton

Several research studies show that fewer students are going into science, math and engineering fields. According to NASA, by the year 2010, employment opportunities in these fields will increase about three times faster than the rate for all occupations. The future workforce needs help preparing and motivating so that USA leadership in science and technology won't be at risk. This exciting show will inspire students and help teachers reinforce vital science concepts.

Requiem for a heavyweight

I was happy to see that the CD of the movie, Master and Commander: The Far Side of the World, when I went with Stella to Wal-Mart the other day. Although I had seen the movie, I am one of those people who will watch the same movie again, and again, and so I bought a copy. That night Stella and I watched Lucky Jack Aubrey's dogged pursuit of a phantom French frigate.

It's a cultured taste, I suppose. Not of watching movies over and over, but the movie, Master and Commander, itself.

The movie opens with a sea battle and ends with a chase to renew the same battle. With the exception of showing the deep relationship between Jack Aubrey (Russell Crowe) and his physician friend Dr. Stephen Maturin (Paul Bettany) there is nothing else. Just an exciting, hell for leather, incredible chase over two oceans, in all kinds of weather and impossible waves; an epic told in great detail of early nineteenth century wooden ships and iron men.

I don't think there was any financial risk in the producers making the movie. There was and is an already established audience and I am proud to say, I am one of them. The movie is based on the twenty books in the Aubrey / Maturin sea adventures by Patrick O'Brian. The movie's title is a combination of the titles of O'Brian's first and tenth books in the series and doesn't deal with any one book but is a loose conglomerate of several of them.

I say twenty, but they all really make up one long book. O'Brian doesn't hesitate to end a book in the middle of some occurrence and start again in the next in the series as if there were no break in between. It's as if the books are really sort of weak chapters.

To say the books are popular is like saying Mardi Gras is noisy or that Stella's oyster chowder is good. A friend came by the house a week ago with a visitor from Ireland. As we chatted, the

'Eden' pet program raising a real 'purr' at Dunbar Village

Brownie, Sassy, Gypsy, Gizmo, Uno, Stormy and a host of other pets are only some of the outward signs that something different is going on at Dunbar Village Retirement Community. Here rather than being greeted with the sterile environment of a hospital as in many nursing facilities, you are greeted with the wag of tail and a contented purr from a cat lounging on a cleaning cart. The animals, except for the birds of course, have the run of the place.

They are part of a new way of doing things called the Eden Alternative. The program was introduced to the facility about three years ago by Sentry Care, Inc. Vice President RN Maureen H. Morley after she read a book called A

Going Native

The Aabikta Dancers, a group of Boy Scouts who study and perform Native American dances.

Scouts honor Native Americans

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Aabikta Dancers are a group of Boy Scouts who study and perform Native American dances. They recently returned from the Section One Conclave in Monroe, La. where they won first place honors for their performance of two ancient Pueblo dances. The group is now attempting to raise funds to attend the National Championship in Ames, Iowa. The cost of the trip is approximately $650.00 per boy.

In addition to competitions, the scouts also perform for scout groups throughout the Gulf Coast region. In March, along with the Kossa Dancers of Sulphur, La., they performed for over 7,000 scouts at the Pine Burr Area council Scout show held at the Harrison county sheriff's camp. The Aabikta Dancers are based in Slidell, La. with members from Slidell, Ponchatula and Harvey, La. and Waveland, Ms. These scouts personally make or purchase all of the regalia that they wear and pay travel costs to and from shows. They are paid in food and praise for most shows. They are now asking for the community to help get them to the National competition. If you would like more information or to make a donation, please contact Phillip Brown, advisor, at (985)646-0609 or Pam and Paul Brown at (228) 467-7244. Four of the members - Kaleb, Sean and Taylor Brown and Chad Burch- are the grandsons of Pam and Paul Brown of Waveland.

Charles B. Murphy 3rd grade visits Hancock Bank

Students in Katie Wiltz' 3rd grade class at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlinton recently visited the Bay 90 branch of Hancock Bank to learn more about banking processes. A visit to Hancock Bank was an effective tool to help the students better understand the concepts of checking and savings that are being taught in their classroom mathematics curriculum. Hancock Bank and the Hancock School District are currently partnering to provide financial literacy to all students at Charles B. Murphy through a mini-bank at the school facility.

Weddings and Engagements

Dedeaux-Loyacono

Kati Lynn Dedeaux of Bay Saint Louis and Paul Kelly Loyacono, Jr. of Vicksburg were united in marriage on February 28, 2004, at half after two o'clock.

Father Cuthbert O'Connell officiated the double-ring ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Nuptial music was presented by Sharon Cole, soloist; Alana Rutledge, organist; and Ron Crosby, trumpeter.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dedeaux of Bay Saint Louis. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Geneva Dedeaux of Bay Saint Louis, the late Mr. Clois Roger Dedeaux, Sr. of Bay Saint Louis, Joan Lemmler of Baton Rouge, LA, and the late Philip Lemmler of Biloxi, MS.

The groom is the son of Jackie Mims Loyacono and Paul Kelly Loyacono, Sr., both of Vicksburg. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mims of Dayton, TN, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ignatius Loyacono of Vicksburg.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore an ivory matte princess style gown. The empire bodice was hand embroidered with tiny seed pearls. From the waistline fell the full A-line skirt from the deep V-back, which swept into a chapel-length train.

Her satin ribbon-edged veil was held in place by a pearl and crystal decorated headpiece.

The bride carried a bouquet of miniature calla lilies and ivory roses hand-tied with French satin ribbon.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Brandi Michele Dedeaux. Bridesmaids were Tracey Carver Clower and Misty Lynn Dedeaux.

Logan Smith served as the flower girl. The bride's proxy was Jessica Bilbo.

Paul Kelly Loyacono, Sr. served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Craig Dedeaux and Louis Lambiotte. Ushers were Lane Clower, Michael Dedeaux, and Lee Thames.

Program attendants and readers were Pamela Bilbo, Charlotte Couvillon, Joy Dedeaux, and Deanne Richard.

Following the ceremony,

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelly Loyacono Jr.

the bride's parents hosted a reception at Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Center. Entertainment was provided by Flite of Slidell, LA.

On the eve of the wedding, the parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at The Bridges.

Following a honeymoon trip to Maui, Hawaii, the couple is at home in Madison, MS.

Weight management clinics offered at HMC

Hancock Medical Center will repeat its 10-week series on weight management beginning Monday, May 17.

"LEARN" is an acronym for Lifestyle, Exercise, Attitude, Relationships and Nutrition. Each letter represents a component of the weight loss challenge, said registered dietitian Dawn Vosbein.

"This program is tailored to each individual's problem area," she said. "One person may eat very little during the day, but uncontrollably at night. Another may snack throughout the day and not even realize it."

Each class member will be asked to establish eating and activity habits by keeping a log during the initial phase of the seminar. Vosbein will tabulate caloric intake and assess activity level based on the information provided.

"We want to set individual goals and develop a plan for each participant to reach his or her goal. An important part of this series focuses on changing behavior to sustain weight loss."

Other components of the classes include recipe modification, how to incorporate exercise into a daily routine and the psychological aspects of maintaining a weight loss program.

The three-month program is offered from 12:30 until 1:30 p.m. on the Hancock Medical Center campus. The cost is $75 and includes a 300-page workbook and various handouts. An initial medical screening for each participant will be conducted at the beginning of the series.

To register, or for additional information, call Vosbein at (228) 467-8730.

WRANPS has found a new home

After four long years of searching the gulf coast for a new location, President and Chairman Dianne Hunt has announced that WRANPS has finally found a home.

The new Coastal Wildlife Center facility will be located on Highway 49 just north of I-10 at the Lyman Fish Hatchery and the Big Biloxi River. The new state-of-the-art facility will showcase a new 40' x 80' Wildlife Rehabilitation Medical Clinic with adjacent shorebird, songbird and raptor aviaries, reptile, and aquatic species enclosures and other specialized rehabilitation facilities constructed to insure the successful rehabilitation and release of our native wildlife.

Also located on site will be intern housing for the university students who study at WRANPS, an Interpretive Center for education programs with audio/visual rooms, an amphitheatre for The Raptor Experience, a coastal riverine interpretive trail and arboreal boardwalk which will showcase our native flora and coastal habitats, and a native wildlife trail with habitat enclosures to showcase some of our native species and educational animals, while discussing their habitat needs and what has happened to them.

At present, WRANPS is looking for local corporations, contractors, and businesses who can help facilitate its move. Of most critical need is road preparation that would require a road bed in order to place a limestone surface. After that, "We need a plumber, electrician and general contractor to help us in our slab preparation for the 40'x80' Steelmasters Building which is awaiting delivery. We are also looking for someone to drill our well and help us with installation of our wastewater treatment system. After these matters are taken care of we can start moving our facility. Time is of the essence now as USM will require our departure by December of this year" said Chairman Hunt.

WRANPS would like to thank the following for making this undertaking a reality so far: The Commissioners of the Dept. of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks: Chairman Reggie Barnes, Roy Noble Lee, Jr., Vice Chairman, Bill Deviney, Webb Lee, and Randy Mize, Executive Director Dr. Sam Polles, Chief of Fisheries Ron Garavelli, Doug Mann, Esq., Hatchery Manager Ava Coleman, Leeds Certified Architect Allison Anderson for our beautiful and environmentally sensitive site plan, Bill Mitchell of Brown and Mitchell who has provided the engineering and his company resources for this project, Sister Martha Milner and the Sisters of Mercy for generously donating our brand new steel clinic building, Jeff Taylor of The District for doing a lot of footwork, Smoky Johnson of the Harrison County Zoning Office for providing mapping and charts and Board Member Jayne Buttross for providing her time in helping develop our legal documents. To help WRANPS fulfill its needs listed above, please call or leave a message at the WRANPS Wildlife Center at 228-452-9453 if you can possibly donate resources to help with road and initial groundwork. All donated work will be eligible for a tax write-off.

Eden -- pet therapy at Dunbar Village

Sassy and Gypsy greet residents at Dunbar Village. The dogs and cats who live at the facility run freely through the halls. Birds are also part of the new homey environment at the facility.

Life Worth Living, which introduced her to the idea of alternative care. She was the executive director of a facility in Brandon Missouri at the time.

Morley attended several training sessions for the program in various parts of the country, and began to introduce the concepts she had learned into that facility before coming to Dunbar Village about four years ago. Besides the Methodist retirement homes, the Sentry management system is the only other agency to introduce the Eden program into Mississippi nursing homes, Morley said.

The program seeks to change the culture of long-term care from a medical based model to socially based model, Morley said, and a more natural way of looking at long-term care. The old ways just don't work in terms of long-term care, she said. The Eden Alternative will hopefully take some of the fear out of the idea of having to enter a nursing facility, or an assisted living facility, when they become a habitat for human beings rather than just institutions.

The Eden philosophy centers on what it calls the three plagues: Loneliness, helplessness and boredom, which account for the bulk of human suffering, the program touts. The pets help alleviate the loneliness and boredom, but the program doesn't stop there. Residents are also given the opportunity to make many of the decisions about what happens at the facility. In the next few weeks, the residents and the staff of the five "families" at the facility will hire a new activities director.

Each resident and staff member is in one of the five "families," whose names are based on expressions of the Gulf Coast. There are the Crabs, the Sea Horses, the Sea Shells, the Dolphins, and the Sand Dollars. Members of each family live near one another in the facility and share equally in the everyday decisions of life.

Members of each family are encouraged to take care of one another. The new philosophy takes the decision process and turns it around, said Morley.

Rather than decisions being made from the top and handed down, decisions are put more and more into the hands of the people who are the direct caregivers, and to the residents themselves.

Residents are no longer awakened for breakfast, for instance, unless they request to be. If they choose to sleep in, then that is what they do. If they choose sleep past 9 a.m. then a continental breakfast is available. Both the lunch and dinner hours have also been expanded.

The residents are also given a say now in what they want for those meals, and if they want to help prepare them they can do that too. On Thursday they had decided to have hot dogs, hamburgers, home made potato salad, and boiled crawfish for lunch, and to make much of it themselves.

Plant therapy is also an important part of the Eden program, which promotes that the living natural world to be brought into the care facility. At Dunbar two raised gardens have been built in a courtyard, one for flowers and one for vegetables. The raised position of the gardens allow the residents in wheelchairs the opportunity to participate in the planting and care. Inside seedlings and cuttings are taking root in pots all over the facility. The plants are placed in common areas and in residents rooms and both residents and staff participate in their care.

Children and community are also encouraged to visit the facility. School classes, boy and girl scout troops, and even summer camps are welcomed. The Eden program relies heavily on the participation of the community and volunteers, said Morley, and we are looking for volunteers to do almost everything.

The new way of doing things is not without problems, Morley said, and some have had more problems than others adjusting to the change. Some resist the change and others embrace it. It requires a lot of work and a lot of adjustment in the way we look at long-term care and it is never a completed process, she said, the changes are always evolving. But the positive changes in the residents make it worthwhile in the end.

Views -- Master & Commander

Irish friend noticed a copy of one of O'Brian's books on a table.

"Now there is a set of books that are going a bit wild back home. People can't seem to get enough of them. It's funny all the hoopla you know, I've been reading them for years."

And so it goes. You are either a Patrick O'Brian fan or you are not. There are endless sites on the internet on Patrick O'Brian and his Aubrey / Maturin stories and an equal number of books explaining in great detail the history of the times, the nautical terms used and even the cuisine (my god, there is even a recipe in one for a "salty dog").

As strong an advocate of the books as I am, I was surprised by a personal incident that occurred when I was writing my own book, Sink or be Sunk. In researching my story, I had set up a conversation by Internet with several British authorities on the 1814 battle and the period.

One person Michael Phillips (mike@cronab.demon.co.uk) gave me valuable information of circa 1812 naval long cannon and carronades. During our correspondence, he mentioned off hand that Patrick O'Brian copied many of his battles and ships from actual events and vessels.

He then surprised me by saying that ship, H. M. S. Sophie, commanded in my book by the main British protagonist, Commander Nicholas Lockyer is the same ship that Aubrey commanded in the book, Master and Commander (the book, not the movie; in the movie, his ship is the H. M. S. Surprise).

I was amazed and asked why, if he used the ship, O'Brian did not cover the Sophie escapades as well. I was told that in all the 1812 battles, the real life Sophie came off on the losing end.

Patrick O'Brian and his Aubrey / Maturin stories are wonderful books and his other books, especially The Golden Ocean, are equally as grand. I recommend them to everyone.

I have a memory that stays with me.

It was the year 2000 and I was at an airport in San Francisco, waiting for another plane to take me to another airport where I would have to sit and wait again. I had been reading one of O'Brian's book and had stopped and left it on my lap and started to doze. Beside me was a distinguished looking person reading the New York Times.

There was a pause in the rustling of the newspaper pages and in a quiet voice, my neighbor leaned over and said, "Your friend died." I sat straight up and stared at the folded over section of the paper the gentleman had handed me. It was a long item, stating in its headline that Patrick O'Brian, the well-known British author had died.

I stared at it incredulously. The book had ended. I realized in my grief that there would be no more.

The ARTS Hancock Co. meets May 26

The next "focus" meeting hosted by The Arts, Hancock County Mississippi will be held on Wednesday, May 26 at 6:30 pm. The focus this month is on clay. This special event will take place at Bay Artists Co-op at 415 S. Nicaise Ave in Bay St. Louis, and will feature demonstrations by three members of the co-op. All three artists are well known locally, and have been showing their work for years.

Regan G. Carney, organizer of the event and co-founder of Bay Artists Co-op, will demonstrate the techniques used to create meriage, which is made from black and white clays. She will be hand throwing a slab of the clay, and will complete her demonstration by making a vessel. Mark Buszkiewicz will show the audience how he makes his unique "stretched" vessels by throwing a cylinder and then manipulating it upside down. Christine Johnson will be revealing how she makes a "tube" woman with the slab technique. Audience members will be invited to question the artists about their techniques.

Carney states that in addition to the demonstrations, she wants to focus on what members of The Arts would like to see happen in the area of clay. Proposed topics for discussion are the possibility of future workshops and other events such as lectures and booklists. She urges both members of The Arts and the general public to attend the meeting. Non-members will have the opportunity to join the organization. Carney says that the space will be limited, and advises people to come early. For more information, contact Regan Carney at 467.0073. Information about The Arts, Hancock County Mississippi can be found on their web site at www.hancock-art.com, or by calling President Gwen Impson at 467.1007.

Diamondhead Garden Club meets

by Susan Holcomb.
Diamondhead Garden Club will meet at the Community Center May 19 at 10 AM. Pat Steele, a Master Flower Show Judge, will talk with us regarding preparing for a flower show. The topic is timely since Protecting Hearth and Home, a small patriotic flower show, will take place May 28th and 29th at the Diamondhead Country Club. The Mississippi Gulf Coast Pilgrimage was quite a success. Over 350 guests participated, representing 16 states. We could not have staged such an event in Diamondhead without gracious residents who open their homes to the public. In addition there are many volunteers who give of their time and talent for the occasion. I personally appreciate all area residents who allowed me to collect camellias in their yards. We had over 48 camellias in our Diamondhead camellia exposition.

It's time to apply summer mulch and granular fertilizer such as Osmocote. Monitor container and patio plants on a regular basis for water needs and pest control.

Plan to participate in the flower show May 28th and 29th. Horticulture will be accepted at the Diamondhead Country Club from 3 PM until 5 PM May 28th and 9 AM until 11 AM May 29th.

Designs will be accepted between 9 AM and 11 AM May 29th. The show will be open to the public from 3 PM until 5 PM May 28th and from 10 AM until 3 PM May 29th.

HOW THE LORD TOOK CARE OF ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS...
WHEN THE ISRAELITES UNDER MOSES' GUIDANCE, ESCAPED FROM EGYPT INTO THE WILDERNESS IT WAS NOT LONG BEFORE THE PEOPLE BEGAN TO HAVE THEIR DOUBTS AND MISGIVINGS. AS THEIR MEAGER FOOD SUPPLIES PETERED OUT THEY BEGAN TO PAINT A DISMAL PICTURE OF THEIR FUTURE....

...THEY RANT AND RAVE BEFORE MOSES AND HIS BROTHER AARON, FILLING THE AIR WITH THEIR BITTER REGRIMINGS--MOSES HAS LED THEM HERE TO STARVE TO DEATH!

...BUT THE LORD SPEAKS TO MOSES. "I HAVE HEARD THE MURMURINGS OF THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL, AND I SHALL GIVE THEM FLESH TO EAT IN THE EVENING AND IN THE MORNING THEY SHALL HAVE BREAD!"

Abortionists: Do the math!

At 8:48 a.m. on September 11, 2001, a Boeing 767 with 10,000 gallons of fuel remaining slammed into New York's World Trade Center's north tower.

The resulting catastrophic events need no repeating here or elsewhere.

Fifteen minutes later, the north tower burning furiously and beginning to crumble, the south tower was struck by another Boeing 767, eventually causing a direct and indirect death count of just under 3000 people.

Even some of the tyrants around the world with blood on their hands sent their expressions of deep regret to the people of the United States. For a brief spell, political parties and divisions all merged into one outraged unit.

Moans of pain and howls of fury came as one from virtually every citizen of this country, and the hue and cry grew stronger with each passing hour, until our disappointing, well-known short memory faded within months.

But, even with our selfish, fatuous forgetting of history both current and past, we still have a hangover of nausea and anger about the fateful events of 911, our international emergency 911 which was so burned into our psyche.

Again, it must be pointed out that practically every woman and man, no matter on what side of religion, politics or social status they may be, join as one in condemning, bemoaning and attacking the international perpetrators.

Since we Americans are all joined at the hip at this point, how is it that we split so radically and angrily when we begin to do a little math with the death toll from the greatest tragedy from hostile action on our shores?

What math? Multiply the near 3000 deaths by 365, and you will come up with 1,095,000, about a half million short of 1,500,000. That is the annual figure of abortion deaths since the U.S. Supreme Court's fateful decision of 1973, declaring that taking the lives of unborn fetuses is legal.

The part of the math which hurts most of all is that the death toll of the 911 international crime is a tad less than the daily death toll of unborn babies here in this compassionate land of the free and the home of the brave.

In the face of an evil 365 times greater than that of 911, how can it be that roughly half of all Americans look the other way when babies in the womb are poisoned with a saline solution or carved out of the womb with a knife?

"A woman, and no one else, should be in charge of her body

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

and what she should do with and about it," is commonly heard, especially being said by women who show their outrage for centuries of domination by men.

That sounds like a great social statement, except that it makes no theological sense whether it is predicated of a woman or a man. None of us has radical ownership or disposal of our bodies, because only God has that.

Thus, no human being has the right to cut off a finger, toe or any part of one's body unless that limb or organ is threatened by a threat such as cancer.

Isn't it interesting that no one has a problem with a surgeon's removal of a cancerous limb, womb or growth anywhere in a person's body?

So laden with common sense is such an intervention that one can also logically be led to understand that it is not morally offensive to remove a child before term in the act of removing a woman's cancerous or hemorrhaging womb when it must be excised to save her life. By the same token, it should be a matter of whole-sale, national outrage that some female chooses to order an abortion as a means of birth control. Those who disagree that this should be a matter of outrage subscribe to the argument that the unborn are not persons and, therefore, have no rights.

Funny how it always comes down to the same old tired, specious, selfish, self-serving arguments about the most defenseless of all human beings who have absolutely no voice in the life-and-death decrees we impose on them.

Those most defenseless of all humans are what we once were: tiny blots on the radar of life's hostile horizon, hoping that the human beings in our immediate life will have the morals and compassion to take care of us. As scary and precarious as the world has become for all of us, it is most precarious and scariest of all for the all-time underdogs, the most defenseless fetuses clinging to their mothers wombs. And we Americans pride ourselves in being champions of the underdogs of the world?

It is a gross understatement to say that the united voices of this country are guilty of crass hypocrisy when they decry the savage butchery of the 911 WTC attacks, yet ignore the pitiful plight of babies in the womb who are being slaughtered to the tune of over 3000 daily, more than the WTC total.

So, beware of your expressions of selective outrage, whether it is about 911 or even the recent barbarous beheading of Nick Berg, an American civilian worker in Iraq. Your outrage may have the hollow ring of hypocrisy.

Scripture Says...

By Ed Young

Beware of the Deceiver

There is a out right deception and conspiracy that has existed since the fall of Adam. Mankind has been subject to Satan's cleverness; and destructive ways.

We are told that the murderer had he not come from a broken home where there was violence and sexual abuse; he would have not done such a unlawful killing.

We are lead to believe that drug abuse and alcoholism stems from chemicals that are very addictive. The argument is often made that the pressure of everyday life; one searches for an escape.

The world is some what open to the belief, that some poor people rob and steal because their need is great. It's just a impulse of the deprived. Many people are convinced they have the right to choose to have an abortion. It's their body that really counts.

Prostitutes seldom think of their trade as a love act; only a way of making money. The rich man enjoys his wealth and justifies his not sharing with the less fortunate. After all he worked hard for his gain.

This writer is convinced that the murderer, the narcotic, the alcoholic, the robber, the thief, the one's who perform abortions, and the prostitutes all have been deceived by lying spirits.

Satan's main goal is to destroy God's people. Lying spirits are ordered by Satan to mislead everyone they can. Unfortunately they have influence much of the world since time began.

The powers of darkness know what the Bible says; most of mankind does not. For the most part we are spiritually dead.

What can be done? The church needs to speak out when it should and bring forth the truth. The born again believers has the authority over the powers of darkness. Matt. 16:19; Mark 16:17. Lets hear it from the pulpit!

The "Word" for the Week Jesus Christ and Him crucified

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

What need do we have of Christianity in a day of moon-walks, whirling satellites, and space shuttles? I'll tell you. The teaching of evolution has left us morally adrift and without purpose. After all, if we actually did arise from a pool of primeval slime; and if we have no more future than returning to dust, what is there to make sense of the time in between? When you walk through a cemetery you see this hopelessness and lack of purpose reflected on grave-stones that have only two dates, birth and death! Is there not more to life? Yes there is! The very fact of death gives us the key. Death is not natural. It is unnatural! Death came into the world because of sin. The Bible says, "Through one man sin entered the world, and death through sin" (Romans 5:12). Now you know that sin is real. How? You have a conscience.

Sometimes your conscience hurts! It hurts because you have sinned! You have sinned against the God of the Bible! The fact that millions of people are going around with hurting consciences really proves that God exists. But they cover up. They use the theory of evolution as an excuse. But that only aggravates the problem. The God of the Bible remains. He sent His only begotten Son into the world to answer the problem of sin. Jesus Christ died on a cross almost two thousand years ago to pay the penalty due to people like you and me for their sins. This sacrifice really does remove the load of guilt we carry around because of our sins. So, faith in Jesus Christ can literally be life transforming.

The cast of "Fuddy Meers" at Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

'Fuddy Meers' strikes funny bone at BSLLT -- and helps the animals

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present "Fuddy Meers," a comedy of confusion by David Lindsay-Abaire, as its season finale.

The theater will bring this humorous play to the John F. Holmes playhouse at 301 Boardman Avenue in Bay St. Louis on May 14, 15, 20 and 22 at 8 p.m. with special matinee performances on May 16 and 23 at 2 p.m.

Community members may bring supplies or donations for the shelter for a ticket discount of $2. Former shelter dogs will be featured in each play performance.

"What a great community partnership ... everybody can support our community theater and raise funds for the Waveland Animal Shelter at the same time," said Friends president Micky Evans. According to "Fuddy Meers" assistant to the director, Libba Tallant, "the shelter is looking for cat litter, bleach and liquid laundry detergent."

Displays in the lobby of the John F. Holmes Playhouse during the play will raise awareness of the new Spay and Neuter Clinic recently opened at the Waveland Animal Shelter.

"In Hancock County, 79 percent of the 4,000-plus animals brought into the Waveland Animal Shelter in 2002 were euthanized and spaying and neutering is the only viable solution to controlling the pet overpopulation," Evans said. All adopted animals are now required to be spayed and/or neutered before going to their new homes. The cost for adoption is $65, which includes the spay/neuter, shots and a microchip.

Regular admission to Fuddy Meers is $12 for adults, $10 for seniors 65 and above and $7 for students 17 and below.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre has a general seating policy. Tickets will be available at the door on the night of the show, and doors open at 7:30 p.m. For more information, visit www.bsllt.org or call the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre at 228-467-2587.

Registration to open for library's Summer Reading Program

THE SEA COAST ECHO Registration for the Hancock County Library System's 2004 Summer Reading Program will begin Monday, May 24.

Step to the Beat... READ is the theme for this year's program, which is open to children and young adults, pre-school age through eighth grade.

Programs and activities will begin Monday, June 7.

Programs will be held on Mondays at 10:30 a.m. at the Waveland Public Library; Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Pearlington Public Library; Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library; and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. at the Kiln Public Library.

Each registrant receives a reading record, book bag and pencil with which to record books read, and those who complete the program will receive a certificate.

Awards and certificates will be presented the week of June 28.

A library card is required to check out all books, which may be checked out at any of the library system's branches.

To register, children should go to the library branch nearest them, and then visit a branch at least four (4) times during the program, and check out at least six (6) books between May 26 and June 21.

To validate each visit, each reading record must be stamped. Merit stamps will be awarded for every five (5) books reach beyond the basic goal of six books.

Programs and activities scheduled for this year's Summer Reading Program include a visit from Native American Grayhawk Perkins, Komenka dancers, the Red String Puppet Theater, and the Peanut Butter and Jelly Theater.

For more information about individual branch programs, contact Adrienne Bradley, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Deborah Hill, Pearlington Public Library, 533-0755; or Karen Cotton, Waveland Public Library, 467-9240.

Hancock High's Wahl named Beta Scholar

Lacey Wahl, daughter of Doug and Donna Wahl of Kiln, has been named one of only 209 Beta Club Scholars in the country. With over 400,000 members, Beta Club students are not only high academic achievers, but also leaders and service-minded individuals. Wahl, who will receive a check for $1000 during the Hancock High senior awards banquet, exemplifies the Beta ideals of academic achievement, leadership, character, and service.

Southern Miss Gulf Coast students win national award

The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast's political science program has a lot to be proud of thanks to the performance of several of its students at the National Social Science Association's annual conference held last month in Las Vegas. Jim Maness of Lakeshore, and co-author Jack Covarrubias of Biloxi, both graduate students on the Long Beach campus, won first place in the graduate student essay contest. Their paper was titled "Should the United States Use the Military Along the U.S.-Mexican Border?" These two students competed nationwide with 50 other graduate students, including 20 doctoral candidates. In addition, Robert Jordan of Orange Grove, came in second in the undergraduate essay contest for his paper "Back to the Future: U.S./Philippines Relations Post-9/11."

Jim Maness, who is in his middle 60's, and Robert Jordan, who is in his late 50's, feel their success demonstrates the success of the Southern Miss Gulf Coast commitment of improving the quality of education of older students on the Gulf Coast.

The National Social Science Association is a national organization of scholars devoted to the intellectual of political science, economics and social science. The conference drew professors and students from all over the United States.

Beauvoir's summer history camps

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library will be hosting its tenth annual summer history camps. Each camp will run for five days and be repeated once during the following week. Camps are open for children ages 8 to 13 and will run from June 14-18, and June 21-25. Camps are 9am to 1pm each day, with a Parent's night on Friday evening.

Students will learn about various aspects of life in the nineteenth century by participating in many hands-on activities. Students can step back in time to experience life in a Confederate camp or learn the skills needed by a young woman of the times. The historic surroundings add to the fun of these summer history camps and at the end of each camp the students present a night for their parents, full of fun activities and presentations.

The Confederate Camp of Instruction will give boys a chance to experience the life of a Confederate soldier. They will become familiar with the uniforms, weapons and equipment; learn infantry and artillery drills and other hands-on activities such as cooking an authentic camp meal. There will be two sessions: June 14-18, and June 21-25.

The Southern Charm School provides young ladies instruction in Victorian customs. They will learn about Southern etiquette, history, attire, local horticulture, art, dance, music and drama. There will be two sessions: June 14-18, and June 21-25.

Registration for the Summer History Camps is on a first-come, first-served basis with a maximum of 30 students and a minimum of 15 per session. Each camp is $50 per student and $40 for "Friends of Beauvoir" members. Supplies are included. For additional information please call the Tours and Programs office at 228-388-9074 or 1-800-570-3818. Scholarships are available; please call the Tours office for application and requirements.

Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library is a national historic landmark property of the Mississippi Division, United Sons of Confederate Veterans. It is located on U.S. Highway 90 in Biloxi, Mississippi. For more information, contact the Tours and Programs office at 228-388-9074.

Motown legend Smokey Robinson will perform at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on June 25 and 26.

Smokey Robinson plays Bay Magic

Motown legend, Smokey Robinson, will play two shows at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on June 25 and 26 at 9 p.m. Tickets are available for $29.94, $34.95 and $39.95 at the Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

Singer-songwriter Smokey Robinson began his music career with The Miracles in the 1960's churning out hits like "I Second That Emotion," "Shop Around," "Tracks of My Tears," "Get Ready," "Ooh, Baby Baby" and "Tears of a Clown." Robinson also co-wrote and produced the hits, "My Girl" for the Temptations and "My Guy" for Mary Wells.

Robinson began a solo career in 1972 which led to the hits "Cruisin'" and "Being With You." The ballads helped to further establish Robinson as a mainstream romantic soul artist. He has earned every major award in the business including Grammy Awards, a place in the Rock n' Roll Hall of Fame and the Songwriters Hall of Fame, the Soul Train Heritage Award and the NARAS Living Legend Award. Even an entire radio format, "Quiet Storm," takes its name from Smokey's first solo album.

Don't miss the legendary Smokey Robinson at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on June 25 and 26! Must be 21 to attend.

Celebrity Scoop

Kaley Cuoco

Checking in with Kaley Cuoco

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

It's been anything but a simple season for the cast and crew of "8 Simple Rules."

They were rocked at the start of their second year by the death of the ABC sitcom's popular star, John Ritter, and cancellation was a very real possibility. With the blessing of Ritter's widow, actress Amy Yasbeck ("Wings"), the show went on, adding James Garner and David Spade as regulars. The fact that it has endured to an hour-long season finale Tuesday, May 18, is no small accomplishment.

Actress Kaley Cuoco, who plays frequently flighty teenager Bridget Hennessy on the show, says, "Our writers and staff did a phenomenal job with what happened, and I don't know that anyone else could have done it. We really stuck together, and there's no way it could have kept going otherwise."

In the season-ending story, Bridget becomes student-body president under wrong pretenses, since she's given credit for a school sit-in that her sister, Kerry (Amy Davidson), orchestrated. The premise lets Cuoco deliver plenty of one-liners, a part of her job that she's come to enjoy.

"I think my timing has gotten a lot better," she reflects. "It's funny when people say, 'You play that character so well,' because I'm really just playing myself. Bridget is one of the most fun, easiest, breeziest characters I've ever played, and that's why I think she fits me so well."

Cuoco deems an episode in which Bridget starred as Anne Frank in a school play a turning point. "A lot of blonde cheerleader types get mistaken for Idiots, when 90 percent of them are the smartest people you'll ever meet."

Birthdate: Nov. 30, 1985.

Hobbies: Tennis; hiking; running; working out.

On her role in the NBC miniseries "10.5": "It was very physical for me. I also had to have an asthma attack, and to cry in almost every scene - but it was really good for me. It was such good practice."

Featured HBO offers a poignant short film

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Jenifer Estess was a vivacious woman trapped in a body that no longer worked. As she talks about how she was in HBO's "Three Sisters: Searching for a Cure" Wednesday, May 19, viewers might expect an old woman reminiscing about her youth.

Rather, Estess was 41 when she died in December from amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) or Lou Gehrig's disease. The gut-wrenching film shows Jenifer and two of her sisters, Valerie and Meredith, talking about the hideous journey with this always fatal disease, interspersed with home movies. Propped up on pillows, Jenifer is paralyzed from the neck down, her sisters sit near her and talk about learning about her illness, and then worse - learning there was no cure.

At 35, Jenifer noticed her muscles twitching. She had flu-like symptoms, began tripping, and became exhausted after walking a block. "I knew something was wrong," Meredith says. "For a disease to cut you down - that's fatal within 2 to 5 years - that's unacceptable," Jenifer says. "That's how the activism got started."

Estess was a producer and director with a theater group, and close friends with Ben Stiller, Marisa Tomei, Camryn Manheim and many other actors who stuck with her. At a benefit, Manheim says, "Nobody leaves tonight until some cash is coughed up." Paul Simon sings and Jennifer Aniston fights back tears as she reads from Jenifer's journal, "I want to walk through Bergdorfs with my mother and pick out my wedding gown."

When this was filmed last year, they had raised over $17 million. Research scientists working with stem cells prove how injecting human embryonic stem cells into rats crippled with ALS regained some mobility.

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Your communication style is called into question, and you'll be asked to look at how you work with others.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Balance in how you spend your money on things you want and things you need will be the topic at hand.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Harmony is an issue - your life is lacking it, and you're the only one who can restore it. Time to yourself is key.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

An issue of karma could haunt you, and it's not going to go away until you make an effort to repay the debt. You'll know how to balance this scale.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

It's time to evaluate who your real friends are versus who the hangers-on are. The people taking advantage of you have got to go.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

Your working life may be taking up more of your time that you would like. Find a way to balance your career with your family.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Intellectually, you may not be getting enough stimulation for your liking. Look at how you can beef up your calendar with learning.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

Go over paperwork three times if you have to - getting everything right is going to be cosmically harder.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

Relationships are going to need some sort of overhaul if they are to last. If you are truly committed, make the change.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Your life might not be working as smoothly as you'd like it. Routines should be changed so that you can enjoy more quiet time.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Changes are in store for you, especially if you have children. You'll have to make some adjustments to accommodate their schedules.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

Things around the home need some evaluation. Who is not getting taken care of, and who is not getting due credit? Restore the balance.

May 16, Camryn Manheim says, "The strangest thing about doing series television is that you don't know what's going to happen at the end. You're just going week by week, so you make decisions for yourself about who the character is, so that you know how to play it."

"The most pressure I ever felt was years ago, when nothing was going on," says Ellen DeGeneres, who will host NBC's "The 31st Annual Daytime Emmy Awards" Friday, May 21. Where daytimes best is honored.

DeGeneres scores big with 12 Emmy bids

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

If nominations alone were the gauge, this year's Daytime Emmys could be seen as a coronation of Ellen DeGeneres.

The comedian has re-energized her career with her syndicated weekday program that has earned an impressive 12 nominations in the 31st Annual Daytime Emmy Awards, including outstanding talk show and host. NBC will televise the ceremony Friday, May 21, from Radio City Music Hall in New York.

The CBS serial "The Young and the Restless" is the most nominated program with 16 bids, and soaps "All My Children" (ABC) and "As the World Turns" (CBS) have 14 each, but the significance of DeGeneres' showing for her freshman season in daytime TV isn't lost on her.

"It feels extra good," she says. "I'm very, very happy. I was asleep when I got the phone call about the nominations; I had no idea they were being announced that morning, so it was just a surprise all around. I thought, 'That's a lot of nominations.' I didn't realize how big a deal it was, or that it was something that other shows hadn't had in their first year. I've been on other shows I've been nominated for, but what was great was to have everyone on this show recognized. That was really nice."

DeGeneres can be forgiven for not realizing when nomination announcement day was - March 4, for the record - since she was vacationing in Mexico at the time. "Jim Paratore of Telepictures (which syndicates 'The Ellen DeGeneres Show') called me and said, 'This is your Emmy wake-up call,' and I had no idea what that even meant. He said, 'You got nominated for every single thing we submitted you for. Except best theme song.' Of course, my first reaction was, 'What's wrong with the song?'"

"I'm just celebrating the fact that I'm having fun," DeGeneres adds, "and that people are responding to it. I'm trying not to pay attention to numbers like ratings and Emmy nominations. I feel the reaction when I'm performing and when the audience is in the studio, the feeling that something very special is happening. I get that from everything that comes back at me."

"The Ellen DeGeneres Show" has maintained the loose feel its host wanted from the beginning, from her unpredictable entrances to her complete spontaneity with guests, demonstrated in part by the recent on-air phone call she placed to the Australia-based mother of guest Poppy Montgomery ("Without a Trace").

DeGeneres remembers the debut show last September, with Jennifer Aniston in the guest seat, as being "something that was meant to be, honestly. It really felt like a very comfortable situation, because it marries everything I've done my whole career. It's stand-up, it's talking to the audience, it's getting to do little sketches ... it felt like I was free to go beyond playing a character on a sitcom. I was free to be myself."

And that's not just in front of the cameras. "When I have an idea, all I have to do is say, 'Why don't we do this?' and we do it. From the beginning, I wanted to show the audience, what the show was going to be, so every single thing I thought of, we just did. I wasn't nervous at all, and I haven't been since this started."

One reason may have been the return DeGeneres made to stand-up comedy before starting the program. She felt it was important to get back in direct contact with audiences since "the sensibility that was out there was not necessarily in line with my sensibility, because there's been so much negative and angry and mean-spirited comedy. My stuff gets blatantly silly and obvious sometimes, but at other times, it's subtle. I think it was an adjustment for a lot of people to 'get' my rhythms."

DeGeneres sensed that during "The Ellen Show," the sitcom that had a brief run on CBS during the 2001-2002 season. Her previous series - ABC's "Ellen" - received considerable attention, especially when the title character revealed her homosexuality at the same time DeGeneres did in real life. The subject barely was addressed by "The Ellen Show," and it's virtually never brought up on her current vehicle, which was devised with all-embracing fun as its goal.

"My fans have always been on the same wavelength I was on," DeGeneres believes, "but a lot of people weren't, not because they don't have the same sensibility, but because that sensibility is just not something that has been out there. It's something I have missed on television. A lot of stuff is just mean, and I don't want to let that ever be a part of this show."

Even youngsters are more attuned to DeGeneres now, thanks largely to her voice role as absent-minded fish Dory in the Oscar-winning, computer-animated 2003 Disney movie "Finding Nemo" (which has its premium-cable debut Saturday, May 22, on STARZ). DeGeneres got a big taste of her popularity with children when she attended, and ultimately was honored at, the recent Nickelodeon Kids' Choice Awards.

"I walked in to sit down and it was just wild how the kids reacted," she recalls. "That they are so aware of that movie, and that it has touched so many different people, makes me really proud. To hear parents say their kids have watched it 50 times and know all the lines just shocks me. I'm grateful the role was written with me in mind."

'Stones' star used to be on NBC's 'Sisters'

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q We really enjoyed "The Stones." Where might I have seen Robert Klein before? -Doris Green via e-mail.

A An alumnus of Chicago's Second City improv troupe, Klein made his first big splash in stand-up comedy before making a segue into a legitimate acting career, which includes a Tony-nominated Broadway run in the musical "They're Playing Our Song."

His many film credits include "Hooper," "The Owl and the Pussycat," "Poison Ivy," "Jeffrey" and "How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days," but almost every female reader I've heard from recalls Klein's memorable 1993-96 series role as Albert "Big Al" Barker on NBC's "Sisters."

Now 62, Klein is having less luck on the tube these days. "The Stones," which quickly sank like one this past season on CBS, was preceded in 2001 by the embarrassing Jason Alexander sitcom flop "Bob Alexander."

Robert Klein

Q What ever happened to Michelle Pfeiffer's first husband? I know he used to be on a soap opera. -Virginia Clark, Phoenix.

A Peter Horton, who was married to Pfeiffer from 1981, to 1988, was never actually in a daytime drama, although he spent a few soapy seasons in ABC's "thir-tysomething," which premiered in 1987 just as the Horton-Pfeiffer marriage was coming unraveled.

Since then, he hasn't been hiding. Horton starred in the cult TV thriller "Brimstone" on Fox (1998) and, on ABC, the 2000 sitcom "The Geena Davis Show." Just this past season, he made two guest appearances on ABC's "Line of Fire," one of several shows for which he also directs.

Horton, 50, appears in the upcoming feature fantasy "The Dust Factory."

Q Will "The Nanny" be released on DVD? -Sarah in California.

A Probably, although no release date has been announced for the Fran Drescher sitcom. You can track DVD releases of TV shows on the Web: <http://www.tvshowsondvd.com>.

Meanwhile, the cable channel Lifetime, which airs "The Nanny" reruns in heavy rotation, has announced that it will produce a "Nanny" reunion special next season, following up its popular reunion specials for "The Golden Girls" and "Designing Women."

Featured HBO offers a poignant short film

By Jacqueline Cutler

Jenifer Estess was a vivacious woman trapped in a body that no longer worked. As she talks about how she was in HBO's "Three Sisters: Searching for a Cure" Wednesday, May 19, viewers might expect an old woman reminiscing about her youth.

Rather, Estess was 41 when she died in December from amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) or Lou Gehrig's disease. The gut-wrenching film shows Jenifer and two of her sisters, Valerie and Meredith, talking about the hideous journey with this always fatal disease, interspersed with home movies. Propped up on pillows, Jenifer is paralyzed from the neck down; her sisters sit near her and talk about learning about her illness, and then worse - learning there was no cure.

At 35, Jenifer noticed her muscles twitching. She had flu-like symptoms, began tripping, and became exhausted after walking a block. "I knew something was wrong," Meredith says. "For a disease to cut you down - that's fatal within 2 to 5 years - that's unacceptable," Jenifer says. "That's how the activism got started."

Estess was a producer and director with a theater group, and close friends with Ben Stiller, Marisa Tomei, Camryn Manheim and many other actors who stuck with her. At a benefit, Manheim says, "Nobody leaves tonight until some cash is coughed up." Paul Simon sings and Jennifer Aniston fights back tears as she reads from Jenifer's journal, "I want to walk through Bergdorfs with my mother and pick out my wedding gown."

When this was filmed last year, they had raised over $17 million. Research scientists working with stem cells prove how injecting human embryonic stem cells into rats crippled with ALS regained some mobility.

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Your communication style is called into question, and you'll be asked to look at how you work with others.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Balance in how you spend your money on things you want and things you need will be the topic at hand.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

Harmony is an issue - your life is lacking it, and you're the only one who can restore it. Time to yourself is key.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

An issue of karma could haunt you, and it's not going to go away until you make an effort to repay the debt. You'll know how to balance this scale.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

It's time to evaluate who your real friends are versus who the hangers-on are. The people taking advantage of you have got to go.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

Your working life may be taking up more of your time that you would like. Find a way to balance your career with your family.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Intellectually, you may not be getting enough stimulation for your liking. Look at how you can beef up your calendar with learning.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

Go over paperwork three times if you have to - getting everything right is going to be cosmically harder.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

Relationships are going to need some sort of overhaul if they are to last. If you are truly committed, make the change.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Your life might not be working as smoothly as you'd like it. Routines should be changed so that you can enjoy more quiet time.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Changes are in store for you, especially if you have children. You'll have to make some adjustments to accommodate their schedules.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

Things around the home need some evaluation. Who is not getting taken care of, and who is not getting due credit? Restore the balance.

May 16, Camryn Manheim says, "The strangest thing about doing series television is that you don't know what's going to happen at the end. You're just going week by week, so you make decisions for yourself about who the character is, so that you know how to play it."

"The most pressure I ever felt was years ago, when nothing was going on," says Ellen DeGeneres, who will host NBC's "The 31st Annual Daytime Emmy Awards" Friday, May 21. Where daytimes best is honored.

Kaley Cuoco

Checking in with Kaley Cuoco

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

It's been anything but a simple season for the cast and crew of "8 Simple Rules."

They were rocked at the start of their second year by the death of the ABC sitcom's popular star, John Ritter, and cancellation was a very real possibility. With the blessing of Ritter's widow, actress Amy Yasbeck ("Wings"), the show went on, adding James Garner and David Spade as regulars. The fact that it has endured to an hour-long season finale Tuesday, May 18, is no small accomplishment.

Actress Kaley Cuoco, who plays frequently flighty teenager Bridget Hennessy on the show, says, "Our writers and staff did a phenomenal job with what happened, and I don't know that anyone else could have done it. We really stuck together, and there's no way it could have kept going otherwise."

In the season-ending story, Bridget becomes student-body president under wrong pretenses, since she's given credit for a school sit-in that her sister, Kerry (Amy Davidson), orchestrated. The premise lets Cuoco deliver plenty of one-liners, a part of her job that she's come to enjoy.

"I think my timing has gotten a lot better," she reflects. "It's funny when people say, 'You play that character so well,' because I'm really just playing myself. Bridget is one of the most fun, easiest, breeziest characters I've ever played, and that's why I think she fits me so well."

Cuoco deems an episode in which Bridget starred as Anne Frank in a school play a turning point. "A lot of blonde cheerleader types get mistaken for idiots, when 90 percent of them are the smartest people you'll ever meet."

Birthdate: Nov. 30, 1985.

Birthplace: Camarillo, Calif.

Relationship status: Single.

Hobbies: Tennis; hiking; running; working out.

On her role in the NBC miniseries "10.5": "It was very physical for me. I also had to have an asthma attack, and to cry in almost every scene - but it was really good for me. It was such good practice."

DeGeneres scores big with 12 Emmy bids

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

If nominations alone were the gauge, this year's Daytime Emmys could be seen as a coronation of Ellen DeGeneres.

The comedian has re-energized her career with her syndicated weekday program that has earned an impressive 12 nominations in the 31st Annual Daytime Emmy Awards, including outstanding talk show and host. NBC will televise the ceremony Friday, May 21, from Radio City Music Hall in New York.

The CBS serial "The Young and the Restless" is the most nominated program with 16 bids, and soaps "All My Children" (ABC) and "As the World Turns" (CBS) have 14 each, but the significance of DeGeneres' showing for her freshman season in daytime TV isn't lost on her.

"It feels extra good," she says. "I'm very, very happy. I was asleep when I got the phone call about the nominations; I had no idea they were being announced that morning, so it was just a surprise all around. I thought, 'That's a lot of nominations.' I didn't realize how big a deal it was, or that it was something that other shows hadn't had in their first year. I've been on other shows I've been nominated for, but what was great was to have everyone on this show recognized. That was really nice."

DeGeneres can be forgiven for not realizing when nomination announcement day was - March 4, for the record - since she was vacationing in Mexico at the time. "Jim Paratore of Telepictures (which syndicates 'The Ellen DeGeneres Show') called me and said, 'This is your Emmy wake-up call,' and I had no idea what that even meant. He said, 'You got nominated for every single thing we submitted you for. Except best theme song.' Of course, my first reaction was, 'What's wrong with the song?'"

"I'm just celebrating the fact that I'm having fun," DeGeneres adds, "and that people are responding to it. I'm trying not to pay attention to numbers like ratings and Emmy nominations. I feel the reaction when I'm performing and when the audience is in the studio, the feeling that something very special is happening. I get that from everything that comes back at me."

"The Ellen DeGeneres Show" has maintained the loose feel its host wanted from the beginning, from her unpredictable entrances to her complete spontaneity with guests; demonstrated in part by the recent on-air phone call she placed to the Australia-based mother of guest Poppy Montgomery ("Without a Trace").

DeGeneres remembers the debut show last September, with Jennifer Aniston in the guest seat, as being "something that was meant to be, honestly. It really felt like a very comfortable situation, because it marries everything I've done my whole career. It's stand-up, it's talking to the audience, it's getting to do little sketches ... it felt like I was free to go beyond playing a character on a sitcom. I was free to be myself."

And that's not just in front of the cameras. "When I have an idea, all I have to do is say, 'Why don't we do this?' and we do it. From the beginning, I wanted to show the audience what the show was going to be, so every single thing I thought of, we just did. I wasn't nervous at all, and I haven't been since this started."

One reason may have been the return DeGeneres made to stand-up comedy before starting the program. She felt it was important to get back in direct contact with audiences since "the sensibility that was out there was not necessarily in line with my sensibility, because there's been so much negative and angry and mean-spirited comedy. My stuff gets blatantly silly and obvious sometimes, but at other times, it's subtle. I think it was an adjustment for a lot of people to 'get' my rhythms."

DeGeneres sensed that during "The Ellen Show," the sitcom that had a brief run on CBS during the 2001-2002 season. Her previous series - ABC's "Ellen" - received considerable attention, especially when the title character revealed her homosexuality at the same time DeGeneres did in real life. The subject barely was addressed by "The Ellen Show," and it's virtually never brought up on her current vehicle, which was devised with all-embracing fun as its goal.

"My fans have always been on the same wavelength I was on," DeGeneres believes, "but a lot of people weren't, not because they don't have the same sensibility, but because that sensibility is just not something that has been out there. It's something I have missed on television. A lot of stuff is just mean, and I don't want to let that ever be a part of this show."

Even youngsters are more attuned to DeGeneres now, thanks largely to her voice role as absent-minded fish Dory in the Oscar-winning, computer-animated 2003 Disney movie "Finding Nemo" (which has its premium-cable debut Saturday, May 22, on STARZ). DeGeneres got a big taste of her popularity with children when she attended, and ultimately was honored at, the recent Nickelodeon Kids' Choice Awards.

"I walked in to sit down and it was just wild how the kids reacted," she recalls. "That they are so aware of that movie, and that it has touched so many different people, makes me really proud. To hear parents say their kids have watched it 50 times and know all the lines just shocks me. I'm grateful the role was written with me in mind."

Q We really enjoyed "The Stones." Where might I have seen Robert Klein before? -Doris Green via e-mail.

A An alumnus of Chicago's Second City improv troupe, Klein made his first big splash in stand-up comedy before making a segue into a legitimate acting career, which includes a Tony-nominated Broadway run in the musical "They're Playing Our Song."

His many film credits include "Hooper," "The Owl and the Pussycat," "Poisson Ivy," "Jeffrey" and "How to Lose a Guy in 10 Days," but almost every female reader I've heard from recalls Klein's memorable 1993-96 series role as Albert "Big Al" Barker on NBC's "Sisters."

Now 62, Klein is having less luck on the tube these days. "The Stones," which quickly sank like one this past season on CBS, was preceded in 2001 by the embarrassing Jason Alexander sitcom flop "Bob Alexander."

Robert Klein

Q What ever happened to Michelle Pfeiffer's first husband? I know he used to be on a soap opera. -Virginia Clark, Phoenix.

A Peter Horton, who was married to Pfeiffer from 1981 to 1988, was never actually in a daytime drama, although he spent a few soapy seasons in ABC's "thir-tysomething," which premiered in 1987 just as the Horton-Pfeiffer marriage was coming unraveled.

Since then, he hasn't been hiding. Horton starred in the cult TV thriller "Brimstone" on Fox (1998) and, on ABC, the 2000 sitcom "The Geena Davis Show." Just this past season, he made two guest appearances on ABC's "Line of Fire," one of several shows for which he also directs.

Horton, 50, appears in the upcoming feature fantasy "The Dust Factory."

Q Will "The Nanny" be released on DVD? -Sarah in California.

A Probably, although no release date has been announced for the Fran Drescher sitcom. You can track DVD releases of TV shows on the Web: <http://www.tvshowsondvd.com>.

Meanwhile, the cable channel Lifetime, which airs "The Nanny" reruns in heavy rotation, has announced that it will produce a "Nanny" reunion special next season, following up its popular reunion specials for "The Golden Girls" and "Designing Women."

'Angel' promises to 'Not Fade Away' in finale

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Scrunched into a director's chair on a soundstage at Paramount Studios in Hollywood, Alexis Denisof of The WB Network's "Angel" munches on fruit and ponders his future. It's nearly his last scene on his last day of shooting, on the last episode of the supernatural drama's last season, which ends with "Not Fade Away," airing Wednesday, May 19.

"It's been a roller coaster of emotions," Denisof says. "The WB did us a favor by telling us (we were canceled) early, as opposed to going into the hiatus and wondering if you're coming back. In a way, it's been a lot better. You know you're ending it, so you take more time to appreciate the people and the world before you say goodbye to it."

Denisof began his stint as British Watcher Wesley Wyndham-Pryce on "Angel's" predecessor, "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," where he also met the woman who would become his wife, "Buffy" star Alyson Hannigan.

"That's the best," he says, smiling. "I can't think of anything better that I could have gotten out of this. I'm very lucky."

With two units working on two soundstages - which, says series regular J. August Richards, has interrupted an ongoing Scrabble game - the mood is brisk and busy.

"Not Fade Away" - directed by executive producer Jeff Bell from a script he wrote with series co-creator Joss Whedon - has all the action, operatic emotion, mass destruction and earth-shattering special effects fans have come to expect from the tale of a vampire with a soul (David Boreanaz) trying to redeem himself and fight evil in Los Angeles.

"Another finale, another apocalypse," quips James Marsters, whose character, the Britpunk vampire Spike, died in a blaze of glory in the "Buffy" finale, only to be resurrected last fall on "Angel."

This season, Angel and his crew went into the belly of the beast, taking over the L.A. branch of the evil law firm Wolfram & Hart. It's been a year of soul-searching and sacrifice, and the intensity continues into the show's final frame.

"Joss and the writers come up with great stories," Denisof says, "and for all the demons and special effects, it's just stories about people, what human beings go through."

On Feb. 13, Whedon and WB executives told the cast and crew that there would be no season six, despite a general consensus that this has been the show's strongest year creatively.

"It's all monkey mojo," Bell says. "It's just about money. We did everything they asked us to this year and more - and I think they would say the same. So it's things I don't understand."

Whatever the reasons for shutting "Angel" down, the passionate reaction of fans - who paid for ads, a billboard, a rally and more - may mean the network will actually make proposed "Angel" movies.

But first, they'll have to convince Boreanaz. "It depends on who the players are," he says, "what's going on with it. It would have to be the right thing. The bar would have to be much higher."

As he has been since his days as a guest-star in season one of "Buffy," Boreanaz is philosophical. "Like I said at the beginning of this run, you go season to season, show to show. The departure of this group - there's not a lot of tears; there's not a lot of remorse. Everybody's very upbeat. Of course, we were upset that we didn't get picked up. But for all of us, in the long run, we feel as though it's another step in our lives."

"What they've created here is a unique show that will live on forever. Everybody should be proud of what they've accomplished."

As for what he'll miss, Boreanaz says, "I'm going to miss being on a big studio lot like Paramount, coming to work every day, seeing all the heavy players, walking through the gates. I'll miss the crew. I won't miss the early mornings. I will not miss those late calls, those late scripts coming in, stressing over the lines."

"It takes a lot out of you, but it prepares you for what's to come."

Marsters isn't even to the point of discussing missing Spike, who began in season two of "Buffy." "I can't talk about it. It's feast and famine, and I have been feasting for six years, and I am so gorged. I don't want to answer the question of whether or not I'm going to miss him. I'm sure I will. Right now, I'm really tired."

"But we're cooking, and it's a good way to go out."

Taking a break outside, Bell (who goes next year to ABC's "Alias") echoes that sentiment. "Tired. I don't have time to be sad right now. Today is Alexis' last day, so we'll feel that. Until then, just try to get through it. There's so much work to do. It's such a big episode. The fear emotion is overriding the sad emotion."

James Marsters, J. August Richards, David Boreanaz and Amy Acker (from left) star in "Angel," which closes up shop for good Wednesday on The WB Network.

A few minutes later, Boreanaz and Marsters pop out of the adjoining stage after finishing a scene.

"There they go," Bell says, "our dynamic duo. James' energy, and the way he and David have chemistry, has been great for the show."

While Bell struggles to wrestle the finale to the ground, Amy Acker is starting to feel the sadness. Her character, Fred, died in a deeply emotional episode (directed and written by Whedon) earlier this season, only to be transformed into a blue-haired demon called Illyria.

With a puffy jacket thrown over Illyria's patchwork-leather jumpsuit, Acker says, "It feels very over now, all of a sudden. I'm so sad about it. I really think I'm going to miss it, and all the people. I keep being the only one who cries, then I make everyone else cry, and I feel bad."

A dedicated "Scrabbleista," Richards will miss the small things. "Those will be my fondest memories," he says, "just sitting back, kicking it, playing Scrabble."

In the Spotlight

Planting the seeds of community in 'Colonial House'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

On Monday, May 17, PBS again hits the button on the time machine and sends a new group of 21st-century people into a re-creation of a long-lost era.

This time, the goal is to build a town, which was the task facing English settlers arriving in the New World in 1628. "Colonial House," airing over four nights (check local listings), tracks the five-month ordeal of American and British participants as they struggle to keep warm, feed themselves, and survive on an isolated stretch of the Maine coastline, living with the tools, technology and traditions of the time.

The hardy souls who turned out for this adventure span states and nations, come from a wide range of economic and religious backgrounds, and are ethnically diverse.

"I thought it was an exciting time in pre-American history and American history, coming from England to the New World," says Harlem-based educator Danny Tisdale. "It was perfect, I thought, an opportunity to go back in history. What other opportunity would I have? Here you can do it and document it for the first time."

Executive producer Beth Hoppe was also in the mood to explore a few myths about a time dominated by Thanksgiving-pageant images of Puritans in severe black-and-white clothing, with buckles on their hats.

"The colonial times are thought of as fairly dark, bleak, dark clothing," she says. "We wanted to take that on, and at the same time, really look at community leadership. Many colonies were economic ventures, not religious ventures. That's not what the public knows, when you think of the colonies."

But with Sabbath service attendance mandated by law - as it would have been in 1628 - religion became important. "That was the one thing that almost tore the colony apart," producer Sallie Clement says. "They went through so much, but religion threatened their survival as a colony."

While personal hygiene, or lack thereof, bedeviled participants in earlier projects, that wasn't the case here. "I was astounded," Clement says, "by the whole fact that personal hygiene, body functions - it was the smallest thing they had to worry about. They had much bigger things they were dealing with."

For example, there was slavery. Tisdale, who describes himself as an American of African descent, didn't initially expect it to be an issue, since no one was designated a slave in the project. Tisdale acted as a freeman and adviser to the colony's governor.

"I didn't want to, quite frankly, deal with the politics of slavery," he says. "I didn't want to be a slave coming into the project. But of course, history sticks its head up wherever you are."

While many things about the project were difficult, Tisdale feels he took away something very valuable.

"I know it's going to sound cliché, but it has only deepened my love for the country. I realized the ideals of why we're here, and what we're supposed to do with our freedom and democracy."

While there wasn't overt cheating in "Colonial House," one participant did go exploring, and wound up back in the 21st century. Hoppe and her producers were pleased to see the colonists deal with it.

Tisdale explains, "He got the wrath of the community."

Sports Feature

Hardly working on 'Best Damn Sports Show'

By George Dickle
© Zap2it

By his own estimation, former NBA big man and current TV personality John Salley hasn't worked at a steady job since - well, ever.

"It's the first time in my life I've had a job," Salley says of his co-hosting gig on the sports-entertainment talkfest "The Best Damn Sports Show Period," which airs daily on Fox Sports Net. "I had a job when I was 15 years old, and then I had a job in college for a summer. And besides that, I never considered basketball a job. It was something I loved to do."

"My father said, 'Find the thing you love to do and you'll never have to work another day in your life.' So I haven't been working. Sometimes guys there or people there make me think it's a job, but it's really what I love to do. I love being on TV."

Salley, 40, has been working - or not working - at Fox Sports Net for the past two years alongside Chris Rose and Tom Arnold, doing interviews and offering opinions on the hottest topics in sports, all from the show's trademark living-room-style set.

Before that, the 7-foot-tall Salley played center and forward for five NBA teams over a career that began in 1986 with the Detroit Pistons, and ended in 2000 with the league champion Los Angeles Lakers. In fact, Salley probably is the only player who can say he played for three basketball dynasties during his pro career: the Pistons of the early 1990s, the Chicago Bulls of the mid-'90s, and the Lakers.

And while he says he doesn't miss some aspects of playing pro ball ("bad referees ... the months of December and January"), Salley says he might be persuaded to suit up again if the right call came along. "If Phil Jackson called," he says, "I don't know about anybody else calling. If Phil Jackson called, I'm there."

But if he doesn't, Salley still has plenty of irons in the fire. He's putting together a media company, working on several pilots for TV series, producing a movie, and this summer will make his debut as a film director.

He's also had acting parts in several films, most notably last year's "Bad Boys II" with Will Smith and Martin Lawrence, and the recent Showtime release "Coast to Coast" with Richard Dreyfuss and Judy Davis.

"I enjoyed that," Salley says of making the latter film. "It was really cool for me. I liked that because I was able to sit back and watch."

"But I loved working with Will and Martin. ('Bad Boys II' director) Michael Bay and I have been together since he did my commercial for Foot Locker when I was a Nike guy in 1990. And I enjoyed the hell out of that, just watching directors and all this. I just loved the whole process of film."

"Kobe Bryant loves to hear the old stories and watch the old videos of the great players," Salley continues. "I like to watch old movies and talk to old directors and producers, and I go to movie sets. I've got the same passion and direction that I had when I was trying to be a pro and everybody told me I couldn't do it. I have the same feeling about being a movie producer."

What filmmakers does Salley admire? "Tony Scott," he says. "I met Francis Ford Coppola. I'm a cigar and wine aficionado, so I went up to Francis Ford Coppola's house (recently) ... in Napa at a Coppola winery. And I went up there and I got to meet Francis, man, and I was like - you would have thought I was meeting Michael Jordan the way I was acting."

Salley, who also has done stand-up comedy, says he's wanted to be an entertainer since an early age. "I knew I wanted to be on TV when I was a little kid," he says. "But I thought one way of me getting on TV is to do sports, since I was an athlete, and then you can get into it. But I had a feeling the whole time that this was the easy way of doing it."

"My whole career I knew I wanted to be on TV," he says. "I tell people all the time that I used basketball as my platform."

Apparently, television is coming easily to Salley. "Oh man, I love it," he says of his role on "BDSSP." "It is free money. I have a ball with it. They give us notes and stuff, but I get to say to people what really, I think, some people want to say."

"MLB Baseball" Sunday, May 16 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): Two teams that spent generously in the offseason meet in the rubber match of a three-game set from Baltimore's Camden Yards. For the Orioles, the additions of Javy Lopez, Rafael Palmeiro and Miguel Tejada have spurred a resurgence that has brought the team to second place in the A.L. East in the early going. Likewise, the Anaheim Angels have also returned to winning ways with Vladimir Guerrero and Bartolo Colon now in their employ.

"PGA Golf" Thursday, May 20 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): The scene is the Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth, Texas, and the tournament is the Bank of America Colonial. Kenny Perry is the defending champ, thanks to a 19-under performance last year that broke the tournament record of 16 under set by 1993 winner Fulton Allem.

"NASCAR Racing" Saturday, May 22 (FX, 7 p.m. ET): The NASCAR Nextel All-Star Challenge features an exclusive field of 2003-04 race winners, past champions of the event and past points champions. Though the race itself pays no points toward the 2004 Nextel Cup championship, drivers have an incentive to push themselves, as there is pride and a $1 million check going to the winner.

Miguel Tejada and the Baltimore Orioles play host to the Anaheim Angels Sunday on ESPN.

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Heiter Skeller

Perhaps the litmus test of current concerns over what is acceptable for broadcast television, this new three-hour version of Vincent Bugliosi's best seller casts Jeremy Davies ("Saving Private Ryan") as Charles Manson, who led cult members in a shocking Los Angeles murder spree in 1969. Bruno Kirby plays then-prosecutor Bugliosi, Clea DuVall ("Carnivale") and Allison Smith ("The West Wing") portray Manson followers.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Malcolm in the Middle

Stunned to find his girlfriend with Malcolm (Frankie Muniz), Reese (Justin Berfield) signs up for military duty in Part 1 of the sitcom's season-finale episode, "Reese Joins the Army." Hal (Bryan Cranston) is confined to the house after refusing to help the FBI get the goods on a co-worker, forcing Lois (Jane Kaczmarek) to work much longer days to keep up the family's income.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

The sudden death of a recently deceased woman's daughter puts Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) on the trail of an imperious doctor (guest star Kevin Tighe, "Emergency!") in the new episode "D.A.W." The veteran medic is suspected of being involved in the disappearance of a valuable jewelry right after the gems' elderly owners have suffered fatal strokes.

8 p.m. on HBO

The Sopranos

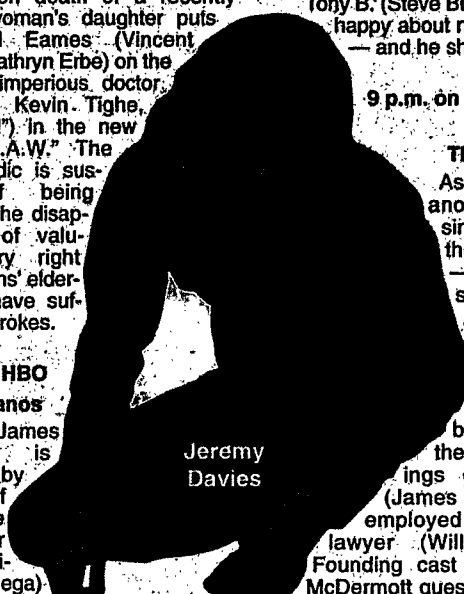

Tony (James Gandolfini) is plagued by memories of another love as his affair with Valentin (Leslie Bega) intensifies in the new episode "The Test Dream." He then spends a night on the town, with unsettling results. Tony B. (Steve Buscemi) isn't very happy about news he receives — and he shows it.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Practice

As one show ends, another begins, since "Cheers" — the final episode — firms up next season's spinoff. As viewers bid farewell to such familiar characters, they'll get a better taste of the new surroundings of Alan Shore (James Spader), now employed by another lawyer (William Shatner). Founding cast member Dylan McDermott guest stars.

Jeremy Davies

7 p.m. and 19-PBS
Colonial House

In the tradition of other unscripted shows that have taken contemporary participants into different times and places, this new miniseries puts 24 people in the milieu of the 17th century. The first two-hour installment, "A New World/Harsh Reality," sends them to a re-creation of the New World via ship. Upon arriving, they must create a colony using the tools and social dictates of the earlier era. The program continues Tuesday.

7 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Fried Green Tomatoes

Female bonding runs wild in this 1991 movie about the friendships between two pairs of women. Jessica Tandy plays an elderly nursing home resident who befriends a lonely, frumpy woman (Kathy Bates) there to visit her mother-in-law. Tandy's character enchants her with the story of two women (Mary Stuart Masterson, Mary-Louise Parker) who opened a cafe together in 1930s Alabama.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Everybody Loves Raymond

A visitor (guest star Jason Kravits, "The Practice") stuns everyone else in the family by regarding Frank (Peter Boyle) as his inspiration in the new episode "The Mentor." Ray and Robert (Ray Romano, Brad Garrett) are especially surprised, and they strive to understand what Frank could have done to make someone want to follow in his footsteps.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Counterfeit money floods the Montecito as the series ends its first season with "Always Faithful." While trying to determine who is spreading the fake $100 bills, Danny (Josh Duhamel) is called back into active military duty — and ordered to report immediately. Mary (Nikki Cox) gets an unsettling surprise visit from her father.

8:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Two and a Half Men

Charlie (Charlie Sheen) has a lot of people to convince in order to maintain Jake's (Angus T. Jones) weekend visits in the new episode "Just Like Buffalo." The members of Judith's (Marin Hinkle) weekend support group aren't impressed when Jake mimics Charlie's comments about women ... prompting Judith to declare that Jake can no longer stay at Charlie's home.

8:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

Half & Half

Oscar winner Louis Gossett Jr. ("An Officer and a Gentleman") guest stars as Phyllis' (Telma Hopkins) latest beau in "The Big My-Lover, My Brother Episode," the sitcom's second-season finale. During a family dinner, his background is exposed by Spencer (Chico Benymon), who also starts a romance with Mona (Rachel True) via unintentional inspiration from Dee Dee (Essence Atkins). Alicia Calaway ("Survivor") also guest stars.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

The sitcom ends its second year — a challenging season for the cast and crew, following the death of star John Ritter — with the hour-long episode "Finale Part Un/Finale Part Deux." Cate (Katey Sagal) has a run-in with the principal (guest star Adam Arkin) over a form needed for Kerry's (Amy Davidson) school trip. Jim (James Garner) gets more serious with his new girlfriend (guest star Connie Stevens), much to Cate's dismay.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Navy NCIS

The supposedly accidental death of a Navy SEAL could be something else in the new episode "A Weak Link." Abby's (Pauley Perrette) findings indicate the dead man's equipment may have been tampered with, sending Gibbs (Mark Harmon) on a full investigation. Adam Baldwin ("Full Metal Jacket"), Doug Savant ("Melrose Place") and Julie Benz ("Angel"), guest star.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Lorelai (Lauren Graham) struggles to keep Luke's (Scott Patterson) apparent feelings for her at bay in the series' fourth-season finale, "Raincoats and Recipes." She has to focus on the test run for the inn's opening, which she hopes will reunite her parents (Kelly Bishop, Edward Herrmann), but Jason's (Chris Eigeman) bid to win back Lorelai complicates things. Rory (Alexis Bledel) tries to make amends with Dean (Jared Padalecki).

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

One on One

Flex (Flex Alexander) strikes a deal with a hairstyling tycoon (guest star David Garrison, "Married ... With Children") to sell the Barnes family's barbershop, making Flex's brother and the mogul's daughter (guest stars Marques Houston and Shannon Elizabeth) the managers, in the new episode "Splitting Hairs." They clash at first, then decide to merge their ideas into an innovative way to market the business.

24

The show's next-to-last episode of the season, "Day 3: 11:00 A.M. — 12:00 P.M.," could see the remaining vials of the virus released by the end of the hour. Saunders (Paul Blackthorne) makes that threat, forcing Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) to take desperate measures. Sherry (Penny Johnson Jerald) wants to be back in President Palmer's (Dennis Haysbert) life in a permanent way.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

Cheryl's (Courtney Thorne-Smith) former boyfriend (guest star Ed Quinn) starts dating Dana (Kimberly Williams-Paisley), much to Cheryl's displeasure, in the new episode "Everybody Gets Dumped." He is befriended by Jim (Jim Belushi), who just wants to enjoy the man's Chicago Cubs season tickets. Cheryl's warnings to both Dana and Jim go unheeded — until it's too late.

Rock Me Baby

Soon to return in the unscripted series "The Simple Life 2," Nicole Richie guest stars in the new episode "Kiss and Don't Tell" as Otis' baby sitter. She starts to get involved with Jimmy's (Dan Cortese) visiting brother (guest star Brad Raider), who has problems with Beth (Bianca Kajlich) when an old misunderstanding resurfaces.

Less Than Perfect

In the sitcom's second-season finale, "Claude on One Knee," Claude (Sara Rue) decides the best way to get Lydia (Andrea Parker) out of her hair — and out of the office — is to encourage Jeb (Patrick Warburton) to propose to Lydia. Jeb enlists Claude to help set just the right scenario for the marriage offer, and Kipp (Zachary Levi) also is drawn into the scheme.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

Amy's (Amy Brenneman) judgment regarding an edgy teenager proves flawed in the drama series' fifth-season finale, "Sex, Lies and Expedia.com." She orders the boy to undergo anger-management therapy after his plot against his school is discovered, but the result isn't what was anticipated. Former series regular Dan Futterman reprises the role of Vincent, Amy's brother. Bill O'Reilly ("The O'Reilly Factor") portrays himself.

Wednesday Best Bets

6 p.m. on ESPN2 MLB Baseball

Hmmm, looks like the San Francisco Giants did manager Dusty Baker a favor when they let him walk to the Chicago Cubs, their opponents tonight, following the 2002 season. The Cubbies are once again atop the N.L. Central in the early going, thanks to a good, young pitching staff and the big bats of Aramis Ramirez, Moises Alou and Sammy Sosa. In the city by the bay, on the other hand, the only thing to cheer thus far has been Barry Bonds' super-human production.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX That '70s Show

Eric (Topher Grace) gets cold feet about marrying Donna (Laura Prepon) and leaves town to sort out his emotions in "Going Mobile," Part 1 of the comedy's season-ending episode. Kelso (Ashton Kutcher) is alarmed when Brooke's (guest star Shannon Elizabeth) mother (guest star Morgan Fairchild) arrives to bring Brooke home with her. The conclusion, "The Seeker," follows immediately.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Smallville

Clark (Tom Welling) is stunned to meet another apparent Krypton native (guest star Adrienne Palicki) who also has special powers in "Covenant," the finale of the series' third season. The newcomer prompts Jonathan (John Schneider) to fully disclose his connection to Jor-El. Clark's relationships with Lex and Lana (Michael Rosenbaum, Kristin Kreuk) undergo major transitions: Lex makes another strike against Lionel (John Glover).

7 p.m. on 54-UPN Star Trek: Enterprise

Time is of the essence, and a major attack seems unavoidable, as the Xindi superweapon races toward Earth in the new episode "Countdown." Archer teams with former enemies to stop the thieves determined to deploy the powerful device, which the abducted and brainwashed Hoshi (Linda Park) might activate. T'Pol and Trip (Jolene Blalock, Connor Trinneer) battle the aliens who made the Xindi hate humanity.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS The King of Queens

Doug (Kevin James) reaps benefits when Holly (Nicole Sullivan) loses her apartment in the sitcom's sixth-season finale, "Awful Bigamy." Arthur (Jerry Stiller) insists that she stay with him temporarily, suddenly giving Doug another woman in the household — something he comes to enjoy greatly.

8 p.m. on 38-WB Angel

The supernatural drama series that evolved from "Buffy the Vampire Slayer" ends its five-season run with "Not Fade Away." Angel (David Boreanaz) and his comrades all engage in pivotal battles designed to give them their last hurrahs, at least as far as their weekly exploits are concerned.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC The West Wing

A furious President Bartlet (Martin Sheen) considers his military options as attacks on U.S. officials increase — often with fatal results — in the Gaza Strip as the White House drama concludes its fifth season with "Memorial Day." Josh (Bradley Whitford) worries about Donna (Janel Moloney) as he confers with a shady foreign operative.

8 p.m. and DSC Suicide Bombers

Suicide attacks have been frequent during the current global unrest, and although World War II kamikaze missions can be seen as precursors, the 2003 attack on U.S. Marines in Beirut is a more recent forerunner. The new episode "Suicide Bombers" focuses on that assault as a basis of explaining the mindset of people who make themselves human weapons, and present-day measures being taken against them are examined as well.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC Law & Order

Jerry Orbach, the cast member who has been with this show the longest, prepares to move on as "C.O.D." ends the drama series' 14th season. Briscoe (Orbach) tackles his last case with partner Green (Jesse L. Martin) as they investigate the murder of a deliveryman. Orbach is expected to transfer into new series "Law & Order: Trial by Jury."

9:30 p.m. on TBS Movie: Lethal Weapon

Danny Glover and Mel Gibson are pure magic as mismatched police partners in this 1987 action drama, which was followed by three (so far) sequels. Glover's Murtaugh is 50 and ready to slow down; Gibson's Riggs is all wound up and not afraid to die. A prostitute's death leads them to a drug ring with ties to Vietnam, site of the war that's one of the few things our heroes have in common.

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Movie: Never Been Kissed

A plain-Jane newspaper editor (Drew Barrymore) relives teen indignities when she's assigned to go undercover as a high-school student in this 1999 comedy. With a little help from her brother (David Arquette), a one-time high-school hotshot, she finds it much more pleasant the second time around. Too bad she can't tell the teacher (Michael Vartan, "Alias") who turns her on — it's mutual — that she's not really underage.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: Zulu

Michael Caine had his first significant screen role in this 1964 historical drama, the saga of British soldiers who found themselves drastically outnumbered by Zulu warriors in an 1879 battle that raged for 12 hours and cost many lives.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

DNA evidence works against a crime victim in "Bloodlines," the season finale of the drama series' fourth year. A rape victim identifies her assailant, but forensic evidence at the site of the attack doesn't match up to the alleged perpetrator. Elsewhere, one of the CSI investigators gets into legal trouble. George Newbern and Nina Siemaszko ("The West Wing") guest star.

9 p.m. on 19-PBS

Frontline

The alleged impact of George W. Bush's born-again Christian beliefs on his presidency is considered in "The Jesus Factor." Portions of his speeches, debates and interviews are used as apparent examples of the influence his personal journey has had on the U.S. government. Bush friends and advisers offer comments, as do political analysts and observers.

9:30 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Edtv

"The Truman Show" got there first in terms of the basic theme, but director Ron Howard's 1999 spoof of reality shows also has its moments. Matthew McConaughey plays a man whose life unfolds on national television. Things get particularly complicated when he falls for his brother's (Woody Harrelson) girlfriend (Jenna Elfman). Ellen DeGeneres co-stars.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Movie: Legally Blonde

Reese Witherspoon graduated into the league of top screen actresses with this 2001 comedy, which succeeds largely on her performance as a law-school novice. She plays sorority girl Elle Woods, who is dumped by her blue-blooded beau (Matthew Davis), then follows him to Harvard, intent on winning him back. Instead, she finds a new cause while surprising her professors. Luke Wilson, Selma Blair and Victor Garber ("Alias") co-star.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

George Lopez

Carmen (Masiela Lusha) gets help from a friend (guest star Johnny Pacar) in trying to keep her romance with Zack (guest star Trevor Wright) a secret from her parents (George Lopez, Constance Marie) in the new episode "What George Doesn't No." The deception lasts only so long. The show's third-season finale, which continues the story and features the music group the Commodores, follows immediately.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

The drama series' freshman season concludes with "Silence," as Joan (Amber Tamblyn) comes to question her belief in a higher power when she is taken ill with Lyme disease. Will and Helen (Joe Mantegna, Mary Steenburgen) also have to reconsider what they believe when they experience a series of unusual dreams and inexplicable events. Kathryn Joosten ("The West Wing") guest stars.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Movie: The Best Man

Taye Diggs ("How Stella Got Her Groove Back") stars in this 1999 romantic comedy about two friends from college who reunite at a wedding. Nia Long ("Soul Food") plays the woman who wants to explore her feelings for him, which were never fulfilled in college. He wants to keep his one-night stand with the bride a secret, at least until after the wedding. Morris Chestnut also stars.

Siblings, some famous and others not, get the spotlight in this two-hour edition. Chris Connelly talks with actress-singer Hilary Duff ("Lizzie McGuire") and her younger sister, series correspondent John Stossel profiles his own relationship with his brother, Tom; another of the program's regulars, Deborah Roberts, talks about growing up with seven siblings; and Barbara Walters showcases a long-separated brother and sister.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

Surprises abound for the Navy lawyers in the series' eighth-season finale, "Hail and Farewell." Harm (David James Elliott) reels from a stunning loss while Mac (Catherine Bell) is alarmed by medical information. Adm. Chegwidden (John M. Jackson) makes a decision that impacts those under his command. On the brighter side, Bud and Harriet (Patrick Labyorteaux, Karri Turner) have good news to share.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The 31st Annual Daytime Emmy Awards

Stars of morning and afternoon television get to sparkle at night in this yearly ceremony, broadcast from Radio City Music Hall in New York. One of the big stories this time is the impressive showing by Ellen DeGeneres' syndicated talk show in its maiden season. The program has scored 12 nominations, verifying that the comedian has recast herself successfully as a home-screen personality.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Miami

A killer breaks into the home of an ex-surfing champ (guest star Brian Patrick Clarke, "Eight Is Enough"), murders him and leaves his wife and son (guest stars Lindsay Frost and Douglas Smith) beaten and tied up in "Invasion." Horatio (David Caruso) suspects the culprit could be an enemy of one of the survivors, since the wife is pregnant by another man and the son deals drugs. Anyone is a suspect.

9:30 p.m. on TBS

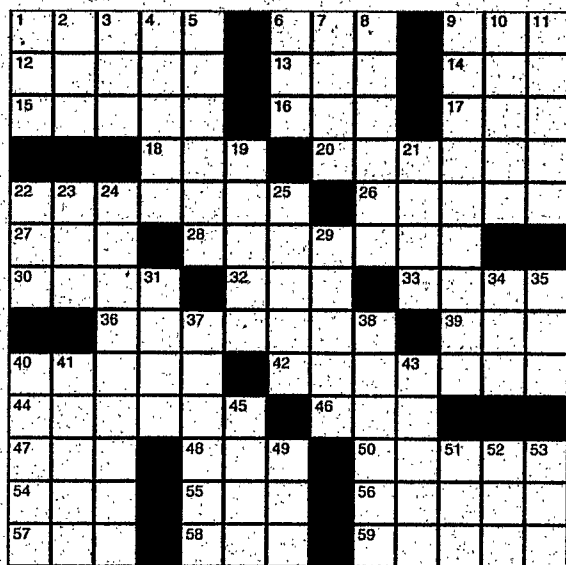

Movie: Conspiracy Theory

Mel Gibson takes the barely contained insanity of his "Lethal Weapon" character to the next level in this 1997 thriller. He plays a cabbie with a major case of paranoia. He vents his bizarre theories on terrified passengers and a pretty government lawyer (Julia Roberts) whom he once rescued from muggers. Then as strange things start to happen the young lawyer begins to wonder if maybe he isn't so crazy after all. Patrick Stewart also stars.

Saturday Best Bets

The Nick & Jessica Variety Hour

They've made TV names for themselves as the stars of the unscripted MTV series "Newlyweds," and in this special, young spouses Jessica Simpson and Nick Lachey focus largely on what first made them famous: music. They show their vocal stuff, but comedy still has a place on the menu — especially given Simpson's penchant for less-than-brilliant questions. Guest stars include Jewel, Kenny Rogers, Babyface and the Muppets.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Price Is Right Million Dollar Spectacular

The ever-popular game show has ventured into prime time before, but this edition is special for another reason: It honors longtime host Bob Barker on being one of the newest inductees into the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences' Hall of Fame. The hour celebrates his many TV milestones, also including his time as host of "Truth or Consequences" and the record he holds for continuous appearances on one network series.

Movie: Jurassic Park

Prehistoric DNA is used to clone live dinosaurs for a one-of-a-kind theme park. But some fatal flaws in the plan threaten to destroy not only the park and everyone in it, but the outside world as well. The big lizards are supposed to be the same sex, and therefore unable to reproduce — but that isn't the case. Jeff Goldblum, Sam Neill, Laura Dern and Richard Attenborough star in director Steven Spielberg's 1993 sci-fi blockbuster.

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: Mississippi Burning

Based on true events, director Alan Parker's powerful 1988 drama of 1960s racial unrest in the South boasts superb performances by Gene Hackman and Willem Dafoe. They're cast as FBI agents reluctantly teamed to probe the mysterious disappearances of three civil rights workers. The mind-sets and methods of the two investigators prove vastly different. Frances McDormand, Brad Dourif and R. Lee Ermy co-star.

Movie: The Fast and the Furious

Speedy cars and risky stunts, which put police in many localities on higher alert after this movie opened, fuel director Rob Cohen's 2001 drama. Vin Diesel ("The Chronicles of Riddick," "XXX") plays Dom, the leader of a high-throttle gang of thieves, with Paul Walker ("Joy Ride") as a cop who infiltrates the group. The policeman becomes interested in Dom's sister (Jordana Brewster), Michelle Rodriguez co-stars.

8 p.m. on 49-PAX

Movie: The Cradle Will Fall

First made into a TV movie in 1983 — as something of a novelty, since it featured many daytime stars in their soap roles — the Mary Higgins Clark suspense story gets fresh treatment in this new version. Model-turned-actress Angie Everhart plays a car-accident victim who believes she witnessed a murder. Although she's hospitalized, she's determined to get to the truth: William B. Davis ("The X-Files") co-stars.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"MIRACLE": The story of the 1980 U.S. Olympic hockey team, amateurs who famously triumphed over a professional Soviet squad, is re-created movingly in this Disney-produced drama. Kurt Russell plays Herb Brooks, the coach who defied all odds - after losing his own bid to play on the 1960 American team - in unifying eager young players into the formidable force that eventually led broadcaster Al Michaels to make one of the most legendary pronouncements (heard here) in sports history. Patricia Clarkson portrays Brooks' wife; Eddie Cahill and Noah Emmerich co-star as team members. DVD extras: audio commentary by director Gavin O'Connor, editor John Gilroy and cinematographer Daniel Ståhl; three "making-of" documentaries; "First Impressions: Herb Brooks with Kurt Russell and the Filmmakers" featurette; outtakes; ESPN roundtable discussion. *** (PG: P)

"PAYCHECK": Director John Woo ("Mission: Impossible II") applies his typical breakneck pace to this science-fiction-flavored action fest, starring Ben Affleck as a computer engineer who's never a security risk for his employers: His memory is cleansed after each job. That isn't enough of a guarantee for the people who want him dead, forcing him to go on the run with his new girlfriend (Uma Thurman) as he struggles to remember what he was supposed to forget. Aaron Eckhart, Paul Giamatti, Joe Morton and Kathryn Morris ("Cold Case") co-star. DVD extras: audio commentaries by Woo and screenwriter Dean Georgaris; two "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; alternate ending. ** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

Video Vantage

"THE REAGANS": The enduring love affair of actor-turned-politician Ronald Reagan and his second wife, Nancy, is traced in this 2003 drama made for CBS - which decided not to air it after its veracity was questioned by Reagan associates. (Showtime ultimately ran it.) James Brolin and Judy Davis give strong performances as the couple, who first met on a movie set. Nancy's unwavering support of her husband during his Screen Actors Guild presidency inspired him to pursue the office of California governor, then to set out on the road to the White House. John Stamos co-stars. DVD extras: audio commentary by producer-director Robert Allan Ackerman; "making-of" documentary; deleted scenes. ** (Not rated: AS, P)

"SEX AND THE CITY: SEASON SIX, PART ONE": The final season of the Emmy-winning HBO comedy series was split into two chunks ... and fear not, fans, the second half will be coming along later. The first episodes here involve Carrie's (Sarah Jessica Parker) concerns over his relationship with Berger (Ron Livingston); before this set is done, her interest is drawn to another man, artist Aleksandr (Mikhail Baryshnikov). Samantha, Miranda and Charlotte (Kim Cattrall, Cynthia Nixon, Kristin Davis) also have big developments in the romance department. DVD extras: audio commentary by executive producer Michael Patrick King; Museum of TV and Radio seminar with King and cast members. *** (Not rated: AS, N, P)

"SMALLVILLE: THE COMPLETE SECOND SEASON": Superman-to-be Clark Kent (Tom Welling) uses his superpowers to rescue Lana Lang (Kristin Kreuk) as a tornado ravages Smallville in this six-DVD set's first episode. He then searches for his Earth father (John Schneider), who's buried alive along with the reporter (Tom O'Brien) determined to discover - and expose - the truth about Clark's amazing abilities. A later story involves Clark's discovery of red kryptonite, which brings a darker side of him to the fore ... a side that has a powerful effect on Lana. Former movie "Superman" Christopher Reeve guest stars in another tale. DVD extras: audio commentaries on selected episodes by producers Alfred Gough and Miles Millar, and writer and consulting producer Jeph Loeb; "making-of" documentary; "Christopher Reeve: Man of Steel" and "The Chloe Chronicles" featurettes; deleted scenes; outtakes. *** (Not rated: AS, P, V)

'The Practice' closes its case by launching a spinoff show

By Jay Bobbin

As "The Practice" has its final day in court, it's letting another law firm take its place.

Producer David E. Kelley's award-winning drama ends its eight-season ABC run Sunday, May 16, by bidding farewell to the old regime while cementing a new one. The final episodes have served a dual purpose rare for a TV series, wrapping up the saga of the often-challenged Boston firm that includes partners Eugene Young and Ellenor Frutt (Steve Harris, Camryn Manheim) while also setting up former member Alan Shore (James Spader) at another law office for a spinoff expected to begin this fall.

In some ways, "The Practice" already seemed like a new show this year. Longtime cast members Dylan McDermott (who has returned for the last two episodes), Kelli Williams, LisaGay Hamilton, Lara Flynn Boyle and Marla Sokoloff were let go after last season. Harris, Manheim, Michael Badalucco and Jessica Capshaw remained, with Spader and Rhona Mitra added for what turned out to be the show's last year. The last two are the only actors being retained for the new series, which also may star Rebecca De Mornay and William Shatner, both seen in the final "Practice" tales.

As he did a year ago, feature-film staple Spader ("sex, lies and videotape," "Secretary") maintains: he isn't quite sure what he's gotten himself into. "This has been an absolutely unique experience for me," he reflects. "My career had been based on people showing up on a set together for the first time, and here, I came into something where everything had been in place for many years."

"One thing that is clear to me about the show next year is that it will be more of a curiosity, more embracing of Alan Shore's character. This season, that was sometimes in conflict with the overall tone, which may be how the show has evolved in the direction it has."

"The Practice" had a resurgence in the view of many TV critics - and likely earned the opportunity to morph into another show - on the strength of Spader's portrayal of Shore, the eerily self-assured, ethically challenged enigma who was fired from a previous job for embezzling.

"I didn't have any preconceptions about him," Spader says, "because I didn't have any frame of reference. I don't know about most characters on TV; the only shows I'm really familiar with are 'The Office' and 'Mr. Bean.' I don't know mainstream American television at all, so I had no expectation of what the reaction (to Shore) would be."

For Emmy winner Manheim, the end of "The Practice" is bittersweet, but she admits last season also felt like something of an ending. "I had to take the cards that were dealt and run with them," she says. "Obviously, everyone was apprehensive going into this season of the show, because it wasn't what we had grown accustomed to. James and Rhona were amazing in that they didn't come in and try to replace anyone; it was just like having two new family members, and they made it very easy."

Since Ellenor brought Alan into the firm, Manheim allows that her leaving while Spader stays is "a little too much like life imitating art, if you ask me. I've had to check my tears at the door."

Although "The Practice" is signing off, viewers may not have seen the last of Ellenor: ABC is considering a mid-season sitcom that would take her back to her roots. Manheim reports, "Dan O'Shannon (a former 'Frasier' and 'Cheers' writer-producer) came to David with the idea. I was in a celebrity poker tournament recently and everyone said, 'That's a good idea,' and I said, 'Are you just blowing smoke?'"

"The truth is that I've spent most of my life making people laugh, through improv or my one-woman show, and it was a very scary decision for me to wait for a drama. I've always believed if you can do drama, they'll let you do comedy, but it's hard to convince them of the other way around."

In the next-to-last episode, Manheim had an on-screen showdown with De Mornay, who is hoping for an ongoing run as bruisingly candid lawyer Hannah Rose. (Other than Spader and Mitra, the spinoff show's other stars had not been confirmed at press time.)

De Mornay doesn't mind Hannah being described as a courtroom version of Lana, the actress' calculating-prostitute character in the popular 1983 movie "Risky Business." "I think that's the intent. This came up awfully quickly for me. They had cast the role and evidently weren't happy, and I had gone to Europe. I came back, and the first thing I heard was, 'David E. Kelley wants to meet with you ... for a part that starts shooting in two days.'"

De Mornay landed the role over a weekend that also entailed her staging her youngest daughter's third birthday party. "I got the call and was told, 'You start Monday morning, and you're going to be this barracuda attorney with a lot of monologues.' I think they felt confident hiring me with just two days' notice because David told me, 'I want this woman to be formidable. When she walks in the room, she owns the place, and I want to feel that.'"

James Spader portrays Alan Shore, the ethically questionable attorney who appears Sunday in the series finale of "The Practice" on ABC, but will continue in a spinoff show next season.

Sandra Cabot MD is internationally famous for her research on the liver and has helped many thousands of people to lose weight and restore their health.

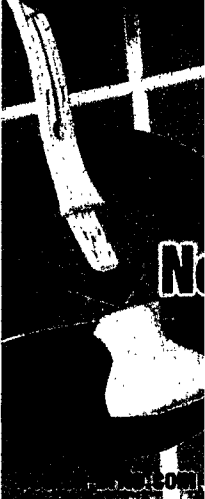

"Dr Cabot has really opened up my eyes. I had a fatty liver and her diet and Livatone capsules helped me to lose weight faster & increased my energy levels. I have lost 80 pounds over a 12-month period. I'm convinced I have found a permanent solution to my weight problem!" Ms Lilly Baker NY NY

"I have lost 58 pounds and lowered my cholesterol from 290 to 200 while taking Livatone for 9 months. I have found the Liver Cleansing Diet Book to be a real revelation, and I feel so much better now I have been able to stop all the drugs that I was prescribed. These drugs were making me tired, upsetting my liver & ruining my sex life!" Mr Robert Berlow Sydney Australia

Knot your ordinary rolls.

- 12 Rhodes™ Dinner Rolls, thawed but still cold
1 orange rind, grated
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup butter, melted
citrus glaze:
1 cup powdered sugar
1 tablespoon butter, melted
3 tablespoons orange juice
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Orange Knot Rolls

Mix grated orange rind with sugar. Roll each roll into a 9-inch rope. Tie in a loose knot. Roll each knot in melted butter and then in rind and sugar mixture. Place on baking sheet sprayed with non-stick cooking spray. Cover with plastic wrap and let double in size. Remove wrap. Bake at 350°F 15-20 minutes. Remove from pan and place on a cooling rack. Brush with citrus glaze while still warm.

At the 2001 Budweiser Shootout, Dale Earnhardt thrilled fans with an exciting OREO® paint scheme, kicking off Daytona's season-opening SpeedWeeks!

Now celebrate Dale Earnhardt with a new hauler inspired by his popular #3 OREO® Monte Carlo®. Crafted to 1:64 scale and available only from Motorsport Editions™, this limited-edition hauler boasts an awesome montage of "The Intimidator™," his #3 OREO® Monte Carlo®, plus a bold image of his pit crew on the trailer's reverse. In addition, it features a die-cast cab, a removable trailer, and a rear opening door with a portrait of this racing hero. Our 365-Day Guarantee assures your satisfaction, so reply today!

Heel Pain? Plantar Fasciitis? Aching Arches?

Standing Still or On The Go Strap on Instant Foot Pain Relief

Comforting Arch Brace

Velcro® straps attach in seconds —
Wear under or over socks/hosiery

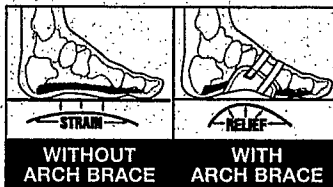

Not advised for those with diabetes or poor circulation

Offer Expires 9/30/04

Raise Your Arch... Eliminate Heel Pain

Weak or fallen arches can cause plantar fasciitis, a condition often accompanied by heel pain or heel spurs. By supporting and lifting the plantar fascia, the band of connective tissue which helps maintain the arch of the foot, the FootSmart Arch Brace provides direct relief from inflammation and pain. Two adjustable Velcro straps attach in seconds.

I have been advised by ClearPoint Direct that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has determined that any best health interest would be served if I had a medical evaluation by a licensed physician who specializes in diseases of the ear before purchasing a hearing aid. I do not wish a medical evaluation before purchasing a hearing aid.
